'Home Rule' OK'ed

Truman Forces Are Defeated; Flood Of Senate Amendments

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Senate administration forces, defeated in a major "home rule" test on the rent bill, faced up to fight a fresh barrage of amendments today.

The senate late yesterday voted 45 to 33 to let cities and towns junk federal rent controls whenever the governor of the state approved.

The amendment, sponsored by Sen. Fulbright (D-Ark), was written into the senate banking committee's bill to extend rent controls 12 to 15 months. It permits some rent increases up to 10 per cent.

The senate also decided, by voice vote, to recontrol residential hotel apartments only in New York and Chicago.

Long Session Ahead.

The present rent law expires March 31. Majority Leader Lucas (D-Ill), served advance notice he plans to keep the senate in session today until action on the measure is completed. The house already has passed a 15-month extender.

The senate still had to vote on a long list of amendments, all of them opposed by the Truman administration.

One would knock out criminal penalties and triple damage suits filed by the housing expediter. Another would require that landlords be guaranteed a "fair return" on their investment.

Still another would extend rent controls six months and provide six months additional protection for tenants who wanted it. The committee bill calls for a flat 12-month extension and three more months of optional protection.

The Fulbright amendment keeps in the senate bill a provision letting states scrap rent controls, or taken over the control program, at any time. Fulbright's plan simply goes a step further and lets cities or towns remove rent curbs, provided the governor said all right. If he didn't, that would block action.

The house bill allows any state, county, city or smaller political subdivision to remove controls any time, regardless of what the governor says.

Public Hearing.

Fulbright told the senate the purpose of his amendment is to permit municipalities to shed controls when a state legislature is not in session.

Twenty-six republicans joined 19 democrats—most of them southerners—in voting for the Fulbright proposal. Seven republicans lined up with 28 democrats against it.

Before a city or town could petition the governor there would have to be a public hearing announced 10 days in advance.

Foes of the amendment shouted that it would "wreck" rent control. Backers of the contended local officials are in the best position to know whether controls still are needed.

CONFIRM BOYD AND JOHNSON

Senate Puts Okay On Truman's Appointees

WASHINGTON—(AP) — The senate today confirmed the nomination of Louis A. Johnson to be secretary of national defense. He succeeds James Forrestal.

The senate acted with unusual speed at the request of Chairman Tydings (D-Md) of the armed services committee, which only a few minutes earlier had formally approved Johnson's appointment.

Tydings told the senate he considered it "urgent" that Johnson be confirmed without delay. Ordinarily nominations lie over a day after being reported out by a committee.

No GOP Objection.

Sen. Gurney (R-SD) ranking republican member of the armed services committee joined Tydings in asking immediate action. Minority Leader Wherry (R-Neb) offered no objection after being informed by Tydings that there had been no opposition to Johnson by republican committee members.

The unanimous voice vote followed.

Meanwhile, Secretary of the Interior Krug announced plans for swearing in James Boyd tomorrow as director of the bureau of mines.

The senate put its okay on Boyd last night, 50 to 11, in the face of bitter opposition from John L. Lewis, chief of the United Mine Workers. The UMW is out of the coal pits on Lewis' call. The announced purposes of the stoppage are mourning for mine casualties and protest purposes over the long-pending Boyd appointment.

Upon being sworn in Boyd will begin receiving his $10,000 salary. Also he will be paid for nearly two years he has served without a pay check while the wrangle over his selection went on.

POPE ASKS 'HELL FIRE' PREACHING

VATICAN CITY—(AP)— Pope Pius urged today the preaching of hell fire to recall men to God.

He addressed Roman pastors in his annual Lenten audience.

"It is sorrowful to see so many today—among them many Catholics—living as though their only aim is to form heaven on earth, without any thought of the beyond and of eternity," he said.

The pope sharply criticized films, newspapers and writings as contributing to a movement away from religion.

"Propaganda for an earthly life without God is open, seductive, continuous," he said, "often God is not denied. x x x He is not cursed. x x x He is as though absent."

Pre-Primary Repeal Bill Up For Action On Tuesday, Mar. 29

The legislature Wednesday set for hearing as a special order on next Tuesday, March 29, the bill proposing repeal of the pre-primary convention law.

Already, senators have indicated that at that time attempts will be made to prevent repeal of the law by amendments that would change present procedure.

Under present law the convention delegates endorse party candidates for state and national offices.

Hundreds Birthday Gifts Help 14-Year-Old Father

PAW PAW, Mich.—(AP)—Young Master Carl Harvey Blake, jr.—beg pardon, it's Mister Blake—is happily rid of some worries.

The 14th birthday of the father and family man helped out immensely yesterday.

Gifts poured upon Carl, his 16-year-old wife, Winifred, and their three-week-old child.

Kindly citizens deluged the post office here with between 250 and 300 packages, and some were big. Among them were a baby buggy and a case of milk.

Postmaster Murray Swindell was astounded—"Nobody ever got that much mail here."

"What the heck will I do with it all?" said Carl.

But he was highly pleased at his latest turn in fortune.

Since the boy father's family needs came to light, he has been given a job at a dairy farm where he's "getting along fine" and life looks pretty good.

Estonian Mother Tells Of Terror Under Russian Rule

. . . D.P. Family On Way To New Home In Nebraska

Fear and apprehension darkened the eyes of Paula Aulik, 35-year-old Estonian mother of five Wednesday when she recounted her tale of hardship and misery as a war refugee and displaced person.

Mrs. Aulik and her family were in Lincoln on their way to a new home in Johnson, where she will work in the home of Rev. W. R. Freuhling. She has two sons, Arvo, 12 and Jaak, 8; and three daughters, Helja, 15, Inge, 14, and Tiina, 20-months.

In an interview, she told her story through Rev. Lorin Wolff, 1812 D street, who acted as interpreter.

The Russians shot Mrs. Aulik's husband, who was an Estonian policeman, when he refused to give up his property, she said. Many persons who refused to "cooperate" or who were influential in government also were shot, she added.

Taken To Slave Camps.

She said the Russians came without warning and herded hundreds of people together into cattle trucks and took them to Russian slave camps.

This happened before the Germans invaded the country, she explained. When the Germans came, life was not "pleasant," she commented but "we did not fear for our lives."

"But when the Russians started to counter-attack and drive the Germans out, we had to flee," she said. "I had seen what had happened under Russia rule before."

Mrs. Aulik then took her family to Berlin where they were placed in a German prisoner of war camp. However, the displaced persons were segregated from the others.

Impressed By Kindness.

After the Americans came she and her children were taken to a displaced persons camp that was especially for mothers. But the rations were not very good, especially for the children.

"It's good to be in America," Mrs. Aulik said. She and her three older children can speak some English. "They teach English in Estonian schools," she explained, "and English classes also were held in DP camps."

Mrs. Aulik was particularly impressed by the kindness which has been shown her and by the broad, rolling plains. "The plains remind me of Estonia," she said.

When asked if there was anything in America which she did not like, Mrs. Aulik replied: "Nothing." Even the Nebraska weather was agreeable.

Helja said she was particularly happy over the prospect of going to school again.

Helja and Inge, the two older girls, demonstrated their knowledge of the English language by singing "Home on the Range"—without missing a note or a word. They said they learned the song in school.

Dr. Rutledge Surrenders For Murder

Man Charged With Hotel Slaying Gives Self Up To Cedar Rapids Police

CEDAR RAPIDS, Ia.—(AP)—A three-month fight to gain custody of Dr. Robert C. Rutledge, jr., of St. Louis, Mo., ended for Linn county this morning when Rutledge surrendered unexpectedly at the sheriff's office here.

The young pediatrician is under indictment for first degree murder in connection with the hotel room knife slaying last Dec. 14 of Byron C. Hattman, bachelor admirer of Dr. Rutledge's pretty wife.

Dr. Rutledge had fought extradition to Iowa and also had delayed his return through a habeas corpus action in St. Louis. A final ruling on the habeas corpus action had been scheduled at 10 a. m. (CST) in St. Louis today.

Dr. Rutledge's attorney had said earlier that his client would surrender himself when his health permitted. Dr. Rutledge's appearance at 8:45 a. m., however, took Linn county authorities by surprise.

Jailor Jerry Hanas immediately booked Dr. Rutledge on the first degree murder charge.

House Refuses To Exclude World War II Vets From Benefits

—Legislature—

Motion Kill Viaduct Bill Is Defeated

Spotlight Is Put On R.R. Lobbying

Activities of lobbyists came to the forefront in the legislature for the first time Wednesday during consideration of LB 56, which was finally laid over until March 28.

The bill provides that cities rather than the railroads construct viaducts, underpasses, etc., held necessary for public safety and pay cost in proportion to the benefits. Railroads are now required by law to pay costs, but no building has been done in 30 years.

"Fine fellows with lots of food and lots of whisky," was the way Sen. Louis Holmes described the railroad lobby. "They are very talented and high priced," he continued, calling attention that they reported expenditures of more than $3,900 in January.

Voted In 1929.

Holmes moved to have the bill indefinitely postponed, but lost on a vote of 13 for, 21 against and 9 not voting. The bill remained on general file.

The Grand Island senator argued against the bill, stating that it would not tend to bring any needed safety structures to the state because limitations on the size of bond issues would prevent cities from building. A similar bill, he siad, was vetoed by Governor Weaver in 1929.

A resolution by the Lincoln city council opposing the bill was read. Senator Holmes spoke of "catches" which he said are included in the bill.

"Did you mention all the catches?" Senator McKnight inquired when Holmes finished.

"I don't know. I may have missed a few. You tell us the ones you put in," Senator Holmes responded.

Senator McKnight spoke on the present law and the new proposal. At present, he said, the city can order railroads to build according to city plans. The only cost to the city, he said, is acquiring necessary land.

Bad Government.

Under the new law, he contended, the city will first decide whether building is needed, whether costs will be justified and then negotiate with the railroad for a joint operation with the railroad preparing the plans.

"Community selfishness often leads to bad government," McKnight said, in calling attention to the fact an election is required before building and that appeals to the courts are provided.

"Have you a railroad pass?" Sen. Holmes inquired when Sen. McKnight finished his presentation of the bill.

"Yes, I have a pass and represent railroads in legal matters," McKnight responded. "I also represent insurance companies and probating estates."

"What's all the fuss?" inquired Sen. Thomas Davies. "If the railroads haven't built a structure in 30 years why do they want the law changed?"

Answering a McKnight contention that the present law is arbitrary Sen. Davies replied, "We have courts to decide whether present laws are arbitrary and unconstitutional and it is not a function of the legislature."

In closing Sen. Holmes said no answer had been given on how cities could finance building. He inquired whether it was selfish for cities to protect the life, commerce and industry in its environs.

Legislature's Vote North Atlantic Pact Resolution Watched

A resolution memorializing congress to ratify the North Atlantic treaty was introduced in the Nebraska legislature Wednesday by Senator Thomas Davies, Lincoln.

Action on the resolution—expected to come either Thursday or Friday—will be of nationwide interest since the vote will be the first in the midwest testing local sentiment on the alliance which pledges the U. S. to "automatically counter any attack on any signer of the pact."

No action could be taken on the resolution today because of existing rules which require that it be laid over at least one day before consideration.

Klietsch Starts Inspection Tour Of Posted Roads

State Engineer F. H. Klietsch left at noon Wednesday to begin an inspection tour of posted highways in northern and western Nebraska.

His tour is being made at the request of Governor Val Peterson after a protest meeting Tuesday attended by more than 200 farmers, truckers, businessmen and chamber of commerce officials from the part of the state where the roads are posted.

Klietsch was uncertain as to the route he would follow during his inspection, but he said he would probably go west on either Highway No. 20 or No. 2. He is being accompanied by John McMeekin, state maintenance engineer.

Russ Lifting Blockade Of Berlin Seen

. . . By U. S. Official

BERLIN—(INS)—A high American official in Berlin told International News Service today that there are "many good indications" the Soviet blockade of Berlin will be lifted in the near future.

This official, prominent in the U. S. military government, said the indications of a lifting of the blockade have come in recent Soviet peace overtures as well as in the effect of our counter-blockade and air lift.

The American authority would not permit use of his name but indicated U. S. officials are convinced the Soviets may end the blockade, partly for propaganda purposes.

CHURCHILL LANDS AT NEW YORK

. . . HE SUPPORTS ATLANTIC PACT

NEW YORK— (AP) — Winston Churchill said today as he arrived for a visit in the United States that he gave "whole-hearted support to the Atlantic pact."

The war-time prime minister of Great Britain added, however, at a news conference aboard the liner Queen Elizabeth that "I won't say more than that" about international affairs.

The Queen Elizabeth docked at 1:35 p. m. with 1,947 passengers.

About 175 persons, most of them women, demonstrated near the pier.

"Go home, Mr. Churchill, we want peace," they chanted.

Another slogan was "No north Atlantic pact. We want peace."

Rivers In Northeast Again Rise

Northfork Nears Flood Stage At Pierce; Elkhorn Up

Spring showers plus renewed rising waters along the Northfork and Elkhorn rivers in northeast Nebraska constituted the state's weather picture Wednesday.

The rising Northfork at Pierce was practically at flood stage today, weather observer Frank Wachter reported to the Norfolk weather station. The Pierce gauge read 11.5 feet; 12 feet is flood stage.

The safety patrol planned to make a survey of the Pierce area during the day.

Additional flood gates were opened at Norfolk to speed the flow of the Northfork. Trees and trash carried against the dam at Norfolk were being removed.

Predicts Continued Rise.

The Elkhorn river at Norfolk also was on the rise today, the reading being six feet, just one foot below flood warning stage. Harold Alexander, meteorologist in charge of the Norfolk weather station, reported the Elkhorn was running near bankful at Neligh, and that it would continue to rise in the Norfolk area the next 36 hours.

Meanwhile, the Platte river was down .8 of a foot at Ashland and the weather bureau said it appeared the ice gorge above the city would be cleared out in a few days.

The Missouri was alternately rising and falling from Mobridge, S. D., downstream as ice gorges broke up and reformed again downstream. The river was up at Pierre, Sioux City, Decatur, Nebraska City and St. Joseph, but down at Mobridge, Yankton, Blair and Omaha.

The weather bureau pointed out that at Nebraska City the Missouri also had the waters running out of the Platte to swell it.

No Impending Trouble.

Summing up the river situation, the weather bureau said there were no indications of impending trouble anywhere along the Missouri adjacent to Nebraska or on its tributaries although ice move-

Rankin Changes Debated

Foes Strive To Keep Legislation Costly

WASHINGTON—(AP) — The house today voted down two efforts to exclude veterans of World war II from any serviceman's pension law enacted at this time.

Rep. Huber (R-Ohio) sought to drop World war II veterans out of the Rankin bill and add a schedule of compensation payments for World war I veterans suffering from non-service connected disabilities. His amendment lost on a 163 to 3 standing vote.

Rep. Kearney (R-NY) then proposed simply to strike from the bill any provision for pensions for World war II veterans.

Subject To Roll Call.

Kearney's amendment was defeated by a vote of 121 to 65, on which the members were not put on record individually. It is subject to a roll call count later if enough members insist.

Some members known to be opposed to any pension legislation at this time voted against the Kearney amendment.

Their strategy apparently was to keep the bill from being amended to the point where it would attract more votes for final passage.

In this view, the best chance of defeating the bill was in having it put so heavy a financial load on the government that many members would decide no measure should be passed.

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Riding high, pension backers drove for quick and almost certain house passage of a big veterans pension bill today.

The house, by fast footwork yesterday, went on record for a pension bill after tentatively voting earlier to kill it.

On a roll call vote, the house staged a complete reversal of its earlier stand to shelve the bill. Called up by Rep. Rankin (D-Miss), it provides for payment of $90 a month to all World war I and II veterans at age 65.

But as the lawmakers got down to business today, the multi-billion dollar Rankin proposal was slated to be stripped of its World war II provisions and limited to World war I veterans.

Drastic Changes To Be Made.

It was conceded that the Rankin bill had no chance in its original form. Rankin himself acknowledged that it was in for some drastic amending.

Regarded most likely to emerge as the finished product was a World war I pension substitute offered by Rep. Huber (D-Ohio).

This would restrict pensions to World war I veterans, and also would establish financial need as a requirement for eligibility. Huber was prepared to propose, as well, increases in compensation benefits now paid to veterans suffering non-service-connected disabilities.

One amendment was tacked to the Rankin bill before the house quit work yesterday.

Offered by Reps. Kearney (R-NY), and Hinshaw (R-Calif), it requires that veterans must have received an honorable discharge to be eligible for pensions.

Dizzy "Go-Around."

In debating the bill yesterday, the house staged one of the dizziest parliamentary go-arounds in years.

Before it was over, the house had reversed itself once and control of the bill had changed hands twice.

Veteran house observers said not since 1924 had a similar snarl developed.

Rep. Carroll (D-Colo) snatched control away from Rankin by moving to knock out the bill's enacting clause, a maneuver which would have the effect of killing the bill.

Without a record vote, the house voted 163 to 154 for the motion.

Carroll then made a motion to send the bill back to the veterans committee. But Rankin was on his feet demanding a roll call to put the members on record.

This time the house got on the other side of the fence in fast shift of sentiment and defeated the maneuver, 223 to 187. As the defeat of the motion became apparent, many members who voted for it came forward and changed their vote.

The net effect was a sweeping victory for backers of a pension bill.

Rankin came off the floor grinning broadly. Asked how he interpreted the switch, he remarked:

"You can call it a revival of righteousness."

One result, however, was that the house found itself in the position today of preparing to go on record for a bill it has demonstrated off the record it didn't want.

Rankin bill backers, meanwhile, claimed "all the precedent in the world" to keep their bill intact in including World war II veterans.

Rep. Allen (D-La) said if they were not included, the World war II men would never get a pension.

"The opposition to this bill," he charged, "is predicated on the fact that you want to force everybody into social security and use the veterans as an entering wedge."

In arguing the case for limiting pensions to World war I veterans, Huber [illegible] the house that historical justification existed. But he declared there was "no valid or compelling reason to include vet-

A Lenten Season Prayer

GATHERED TOGETHER IN HIS NAME

And they continued steadfastly in the apostles' teaching, and fellowship, in the breaking of bread and the prayers. Acts 2:42. Read Matthew 6:5-15.

Christian prayer is essentially social. The prayer the Master gave is filled with plural pronouns. Though we pray that prayer in solitude, we draw into the circle of fellowship all who likewise pray. There is a time and place for purely personal prayer, such as: Help Thou mine unbelief. But Christian petition at its fullest always produces and expresses fellowship. Where two or three are gathered in His name, and there is Christ in the midst of them. And where one person alone finds Christ he is given a new sense of fellowship with all others.

Let us pray the prayer the Master taught, having in mind and heart the living fellowship of all times and places:

Our Father which art in heaven. Hallowed be Thy name. Thy kingdom come. Thy will be done on earth, as it is in heaven.

Give us this day our daily bread.

And forgive us our debts as we forgive our debtors.

And lead us not into temptation, but deliver us from evil. For Thine is the kingdom and the power, and the glory, forever. Amen.

N. U. Staff, City Planning Satirized By Gridiron Skits

. . . At University Club's Annual Affair

University of Nebraska athletic and administrative situations took the brunt of the funmaking at the University club's annual gridiron dinner Tuesday night.

The men-only satirization of local problems and personalities made use of Football Coach Bill Glassford playing himself. All other characters in the skits were played by club members.

A scene from the life of Chancellor R. G. Gustavson included phone callers who wanted basketball tickets and others who wanted Paul Brown for football coach.

Atheletic Director Potsy Clark took a beating when the "chancellor" reminded him that "last year you were the interim coach—now you're just interim."

Monument For Mayor.

The parking riot last spring was revived by the appearance of Dean of Faculties Carl Borgmann leaving for the battleground equipped with gas mask and tear gas supply.

City problems also figured heavily in the parodies. A skit showing Mayor Clarence Miles involved in financial problems ended happily when a monument to the mayor was proposed for a downtown business district site.

The mayor accepted the honor singing:

"I'm just a mayor who can't say no."
"I'm in a terrible fix."
"I always say, come on, let's go,
"Just when I oughta say nix."

City planners voiced their worries to the tune of another song from "Oklahoma":

"Everyone is on their toes in city planning;
"We've gone about as fur as we can go;
"We've planned a city-county building 70 stories high,
"And now we're only waiting for the dough.'

The show opened with a skit showing the Gridiron committee in meeting to select their targets for the annual parodies. This gave the merciless satirists a chance to take shots at many figures in Lincoln's business and political circles.

The meeting was followed by a quiz program in which caricatures of Lincoln personalities were posed for identification.

ments could cause very minor flooding.

One of these spots was north of Pender, Neb., where high water in a drainage ditch forced the Chicago, St. Paul, Minneapolis and Omaha railroad to re-route its trains between Sioux City and Omaha yesterday over the Chicago and North Western tracks.

Late Tuesday a North Western line bridge became weakened in the Pender area, necessitating rerouting of trains through Blair, Neb., to the Iowa side of the Missouri river.

World Crisis Strengthening Church Bonds

Young People Told By Adventist Speaker

Present crisis in the world presents "a great opportunity" for Christian workers, Elder George E. Vandeman, Washington, D. C., declared Wednesday in an address to Seventh-day Adventist churchmen attending a national youth conference at the Lincoln hotel.

"The spirit of God is moving on the hearts of thousands of men and women today, and especially the youth," he declared.

The world's unrest, the insane and uncanny crime wave, and the loosening of the moral moorings of life, are influencing people today to re-study the gospel of Jesus Christ, he said, and give more attention to the things of eternal value.

Influence Of God.

Elder Vandeman, who is associate secretary of the denomination's ministerial association, stated that church leaders giving guidance to youth today much not depend primarily on education, or experience, but rather on the influence of the spirit of God in their own personal lives.

In panel discussion and review the council spent several hours today on the "share your faith" movement of Seventh-day Adventist church young people, in which all of the one hundred leaders took part. Theodore E. Lucas, Washington, D. C., one of the denomination's associate youth leaders, served as general chairman.

Airplanes Used.

Reports revealed personal missionary activities ranging from Bible lawn parties, and "Over the Fence" evangelism to the conducting of regular series of evangelistic meetings. In connection with Youth congresses and church rallies, hundreds of the young people are spending to visit homes, promote the reading of the Bible, religious radio, and prayer. Over lonely islands far removed from influences of the church, religious leaflets are being dropped from airplanes. In many communities hospital teams are formed, and the youth go with literature to visit patients from bed to bed. The "share your faith" move among the youth of the church is bringing new life to every department of the church, leaders reported.

Dr. Frank H. Yost, Washington, D. C., Religious Liberty association secretary, will conduct the "Evening Watch" at 7:30 p. m.

Equality Before the Law

82 years ago this month Nebraska attained statehood.

Through all these years, her Great Seal has proudly displayed the motto, "Equality Before The Law." Nebraska founders wisely proclaimed that every citizen is privileged to enjoy the benefits of personal liberty. That tolerance, not prejudice, should prevail. That there shall be mutual respect for the other fellow and his individual rights.

Today, more than ever, folks in Nebraska realize that all this is a precious part of what we call Democracy—the right of every individual to choose for himself; to vote as he wishes; to drink a moderate beverage like beer.

Step By Step

Two weeks ago this column suggested that the North Atlantic pact was a natural out growth, an extension of the Monroe doctrine. Again at the end of the week, after the Atlantic pact text had been given to the public, the same observation appeared on this page.

In Washington Tuesday Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg, Michigan republican, senate patriarch, the ranking republican member of the senate Foreign Relations committee, addressed a conference of mayors, likening the North Atlantic pact to the Monroe doctrine. In the development of that theme he put his finger squarely upon the inherent value of the latest document. "The American tradition, outlined in the 1939 neutrality pact, told Hitler that the United States would keep out of conflict," he said. "The North Atlantic pact, wholly to the contrary, will tell any aggressor in 1949 that the very moment he launches his conquest in this area he will face whatever united opposition, including that of the United States, is necessary to beat him to his knees. I reassert that this is the greatest war-deterrent ever devised. No itching conqueror will lightly view such odds."

"There have been a lot of itching conquerors who fastened their eyes upon the western hemisphere but that is all that they ever did in the last 100 years. They thought better of it. For, they knew they faced a force ready to fight for their freedom which in itself is a great deterrent to war.

Nebraska's Backlog

Nebraska became a state in 1867; to the south, a near neighbor, Oklahoma, in 1907, 40 years later. Oklahoma's Governor Turner at the opening of the week announced that he would request the Oklahoma legislature to submit a 20-million-dollar bond issue for buildings at state institutions to a vote of the people at a general election in 1950. "The bond issue ought to catch up on the backogl," Governor Turner explained.

At a budget committee hearing Tuesday, Chancellor Gustavson among other items discussed the question of funds for the maintenance of present buildings at the University of Nebraska. The question is one that could well apply to all state institutions, facilities under the direction of the board of control, physical plants of the state normals. There has been in this state no fixed policy of maintaining the state's properties at these various institutions. And buildings wear out, deteriorate. It is common knowledge that ne&lect of paint, indifference to minor repairs at a time when natural deterioration first becomes evident, proves extremely costly in the long run. In the extreme, neglect of maintenance means that it is cheaper to wreck an old building than to renovate or repair it to put it in first class condition. All through the years of Nebraska statehood we have been neglecting maintenance of the state's physical plants.

Nebraska's backlog is a large one, not only in the matter of enlarging facilities through new buildings, which will be taken care of under the special levy enacted two years ago, to run for a period of 10 years, but in properly maintaining that which already exists. If the practice is to be one of drawing upon a building fund for actual maintenance, then we do not have a building program in a genuine sense but are still on a stop-gap basis, plugging holes.

Nebraska's School Lands

For sheer human undertones no tale unfolded before a committee of the present Nebraska unicameral legislature can rival the hearing held Monday in connection with two proposals affecting millions of acres of Nebraska land, held as a trust for the school children of the state. One was LB 474 to sell 1,633,310 acres of the school land at not less than double the present-appraised value, invest the proceeds in government bonds, and return these lands, wholly agricultural in use, to the tax rolls. The second measure would change present methods of classifying and appraising school land. All in all the subject matter is a "hot potato," suffused with conflicting views, offering no generally accepted solution, and in permanent terms a matter of great concern to the state. The hearing room, which turned out to be the senate chamber itself was jammed to the doorsill.

In the burden of reading, perhaps, many of the stories presented to the legislative committee escaped wide attention. But the three introducers of LB 474 presented some amazing testimony through the medium of witnesses, to wit this taken from the news columns:

One California resident, who owns a lease for which he paid the school fund $4,638 in 14 years obtained $27,725 more from the farmer who sub-leased the land and did all the work . . . Near Chappell, a lease with only three years to run sold for a bonus of $10,000 above what the schools get for rent . . . Herman Bloom, Morrill, told of a lease-holder living in Oklahoma, whom he paid in 10 years between eight and 10 thousand dollars more than the lessee was required to pay to the school fund . . . There was more, but these were the highlights, and highlights they were in every sense of the world.

If the statements made before the committee are true, obviously the permanent school fund is getting one royal ruping under this system of leasing and sub-leasing school lands. It is late, but not too late, to do something about it, and on the basis of the evidence presented, certainly something should be done about it. The best years of agricultural returns, the war years, are over, but a situation that has existed for years, through one administration after another, a situation for which public indifference is largely to blame, should be corrected. With the schools crying for money, particularly in those regions where the chief acreage of school lands remains, the lease system under the tax pressures of today should not tolerate the huge profits reported to have been made through the sub-leasing of school lands. Those profits belong to the public schools.

There was another side to it, equally fascinating, and human. One witness testified that he had constructed 20 thousand dollars worth of buildings on seven acres of leased land, adjacent to large holdings which he himself has. A second witness said he had spent 40 thousand dollars for improvements on leased school land. He owns five deeded sections adjoining it. Still a third reported he had made 150 thousand dollars' worth of improvement on leased school land, including a 150 thousand bushel elevator. There isn't any reason to doubt that huge investments have been made in improving these lands which the state itself owned. The facts can be accepted on their face as evidence of honest, genuine operation of the lands. There would be an injustice in the failure to recognize what has been done, where improvements have been made. In those cases, those leasing the land are entitled to every consideration. But there is another side to it. If improvements had been placed on the lands owned privately the value of those lands, reflected on the tax rolls, would have increased measurably.

And, there are a lot of little people also affected, people who are working hard, doing their job. At least this legislature can put an end to the business of sub-leasing school lands at a fat profit. There may have been a day when that was the only way the state could get any revenue from its lands, but that day is past and gone forever.

North Dakota's New Crop

Citizens of Nebraska and Kansas, particularly the latter, should take notice. They fight sunflowers. To the north, not far away, in North Dakota, a few weeks back the initial steps were taken to process a new crop—sunflowers—to which 25 thousand acres in North Dakota and Minnesota were planted in 1948, with a reported average yield of 800 pounds of seed per acre—or 20 million pounds of seed in all. All this is a development in the fabled Red River valley, according to a report in the Minneapolis Tribune. The oil from the seed is used chiefly in salad dressings. When the people of the Sunflower state, and possibly their good neighbors in Nebraska read about this they will be madder than ever. If a new sunflower industry is to be founded Kansas should have been in on the ground floor. They, sunflowers, are said to grow wild down there.

WASHINGTON — G.O.P. Sen. Homer Ferguson must be getting jittery over his election probe back in Michigan. At any rate something has thrown Homer's balance wheel out of gear.

The other day, the Michigan senator, supposed to be a great prosecutor and investigator, let it be known to the press that two years ago he had informed Attorney General Tom Clark about Judith Coplon, the justice department analyst recently caught handing government documents to a Russian diplomat in New York. The implication was that Clark had sat on his hands for two years while Miss Coplon got away with justice department secrets.

When Attorney General Clark heard of the Ferguson statement, he was, to say the least, flabber-

PEARSON says that Attorney General Tom Clark (above) received a note from Sen. Homer Ferguson humbly withdrawing statements made in connection with the Coplon case, and insisting that he had been misquoted. The columnist insists that Judiciary Chairman Pat McCarran had a letter from Senator Ferguson repeating exactly what the newspapers had quoted.

gasted, and sent word to the senator that he would give him 15 minutes to take back his statement.

Ferguson was quick to reply. He sat down and wrote Clark a humble longhand note taking back what he had said. The senator's excuse was that he had been misquoted. He had never said he gave information about Judith Coplon to Clark, nor did terest you," remarked Senator McCarran, handing him a typewritten letter on the stationery of Senator Ferguson.

In the letter, Ferguson said exactly what the newspapers quoted him as saying the night before, and which he had denied to Clark. Two years ago, wrote the Michigan senator, he had given the information about Judith Coplon to Clark, and now he demanded an investigation. Furthermore, he put all this in black and white.

The attorney general read the letter with amusement.

"Well, here's a letter he wrote me," he remarked, pulling out the handwritten note in which Ferguson said he had been misquoted.

McCarran read the note, then observed:

"I thought there was something funny about Ferguson's phoning me last night. He wanted to know if I had received this letter. Then he said: 'Well, don't give it out. It's confidential.'"

In a secret report to the Senate Foreign Relations committee last week, Secretary of State Acheson bluntly announced that the communists are complete masters of China and it would be folly to send more U. S. arms to the defeated nationalists.

Acheson revealed that nine-tenths of the equipment already furnished by the United States has been surrendered to the communists in the past eight months. Today the communists have the military power to march wherever they please in China—including China where the nationalists are still holding out, Acheson reported.

Meanwhile, the nationalists are negotiating frantically for a coalition government. Whether the United States will do business with the new government, Acheson said, will depend on the communists' attitude.

The secretary of state was called before the Foreign Relations committee to answer a petition, signed by 50 senators, demanding aid for the nationalists. Significantly, the petition was sponsored by Sen. Pat McCarran of Nevada, the sil-

OATH REQUIREMENT.

Wymore, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: I would like to hear from more about old age assistance. I mean the new law to require an oath from relatives as a requisite of old age assistance. I think the children of most old folks help their parents all they can or they couldn't get along. Last session a lien on homes was approved. Grants range around $35 a month and out of that must come taxes and insurance. Some oldsters have no children in this state; surely they won't go to another state, ask for help. If the legislature would just put back the funds taken from the assistance fund, there would be no need for such a law.

SOUND REDISTRICTING

Alexandria, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: The school teachers bill for redistricting, sponsored by Senator Metzger, has passed another hurdle toward passage. A similar bill passed the Kansas legislature two years ago. This year they repealed it.

The bill is called a redistricting bill. Actually it is no such thing. It does not provide for mandatory redistricting anywhere in the state, no matter how badly needed. It does not set up any standard that any new district must meet. It does set up committees but does not require that they offer any redistricting but does demand a mountain of labor be performed before they offer any specific proposal. It does require that any proposed new district be cut into two parts, each part having a veto power for the first vote but that it must vote as a unit the second time. Why the difference? It appropriates $40,000 for two years' expenses but it promises 93 county superintendents at least $500 a year for each of those two years, a total of $93,000.

We need redistricting. One sound solution of the problem can be read in the March 5th issue of the Nebraska Farmer, page 57. That solution proposes near compulsory redistricting. It sets up a standard of schooling which each district must furnish and requires that the people redistrict themselves as much as necessary to furnish it.

LINCOLN'S EMPTY PURSE

Lincoln, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: Why is Lincoln city government in a financial crisis and what can the voter do about it? Truly a worthwhile subject to ponder over. It certainly isn't because of an overpaid mayor or councilmen, but I suppose we will have to ask someone from Chicago where our tax money goes, unless by chance we may discover someone of sufficient intelligence in our own city of Lincoln to answer the question. I often wonder what are the duties of our mayor and councilmen? How far do the duties of the city engineering department and the street department reach? Maybe in the new blood seeking seats on the city council, there are some

Marquis Childs

WASHINGTON—Beginning with the release of the text and moving on to the official signing, the Atlantic pact is being floodlighted with publicity. This is as it should be, since the step is a momentous one.

The very brightness of the glow of publicity may, however, be deceptive. It may encourage the illusion that the mere signing of the pact is in itself a complete achievement.

Nothing could be further from the truth. The pact is merely a beginning. If it is not a beginning, then it is nothing.

Quite properly the pact has been compared to the Monroe doctrine, which signalled the end of European intervention in the Western Hemisphere. But the mere enunciation of the doctrine by President Monroe did not guarantee the independence of this hemisphere from further encroachment.

That came out of a whole series of events—both words and deeds —which gave substance to the doctrine. It came out of the growing strength and authority of the United States. The general outline laid down by President Monroe was given meaning through the years.

Too little has been said by responsible officials about the objectives of the Atlantic pact and about what it does not mean. Too much reliance has been placed on generalization and rhetoric. Yet at the same time there has been widespread speculation here and abroad over the volume of arms available to participating European countries.

This is a weakness that can cause future trouble. The fact, which no one talks about, is that top military men both in this country and Britain were not happy about the final form of the pact as it was extended beyond the compact bloc of western European powers to include northern and southern extremities.

These men know how intense is the competition for available arms. They know, too, something of the dangers of dispersing limited strength over a wide area.

Here at home new items are constantly being added to the defense shopping list. Thus, congress recently approved with scarcely any discussion a request from the air force for a radar network around the U. S. and Alaska to cost $122,000,000.

It is likely to cost considerably more than that and it will certainly take scarce materials and equipment sought by western Europe. Even though this country has the most comprehensive communications system in the world, construction of the radar net will mean the laying of thousands of miles of land wires. That is just one example of what the word defense entails.

The professed goal of the Atlantic pact is not a military alliance. But even if it were, the realities of demand and supply would dictate that it could not be really effective on that basis for a long time to come.

What this makes abundantly clear is the need to stress the peaceful goal of the pact. It is a pact for self-defense within the framework of the United Nations and its great potentialities for good in that context must be told and retold at home and abroad.

If the pact is truly a beginning and not just another scrap of paper, then it can serve as the base for a new kind of world society. The nucleus of a world state is here if the framers of the pact mean what they say. The Atlantic community can transcend the tragic limitations of the U. N.

Another reason for putting all the emphasis on the peaceful intention of the pact is the deep-seated fear and suspicion on the part of the Russians. There is the strong probability that the masters of the kremlin actually believe their own propaganda that the Atlantic alliance is an alliance of the western powers, under U. S. domination, to make war on the Soviet Union.

A recent analysis of Soviet propaganda showed the pathological fear motivating much of what comes out of the land of midnight darkness. That paranoid fear—a persecution complex in an advanced stage—could drive its victims to the ultimate madness of war.

From the military point of view, all that can be done under the pact for several years is to begin to restore something of the strength sapped by the war. From the political point of view, the pact is a franchise to a brave, new world.

A STRUGGLE FOR POWER

Now comes the unkindest cut of all, a development which may well precipitate apprehension among all well-wishers for Missouri basin development. The Hoover commission for reorganization of the executive departments of the federal government has put its thumb down on the Pick-Sloan plan, which it says is not "integrated." More disturbing is this recommendation.

"The committee believes that it is imperative that the federal government make drastic changes in water resources development policy and organization at the earliest possible moment. It would be foolhardy to undertake a further expenditure of billions of dollars without thorough revision of both policy and organizational arrangements; and unless and until such revision is forthcoming, the committee recommends to both congress and the executive at least a partial moratorium on further projects."

What does that mean? Delay? Suspension of work now in progress in the Missouri basin? No more appropriation, and hence no more actual construction until there has been a complete revision of national policy from the course followed in the last 15 years? And if policy is to be revised, what fundamental changes are suggested since it can be assumed that the Hoover committee is not dealing in peanuts, trivial details, but suggesting only basic changes in the present form of attack upon a national problem?

One of the answers to those questions was discussed recently—the method of distribution of vast quantities of electricity generated through these river developments, paid for out of public funds—that is the heart of the controversy. There is the recommendation that the electric energy be sold wholesale to private utilities at a profit, a continuing profit indefinitely, instead of its distribution, as at present, by public agencies.

In part at least this is what we get by a foolish quarrel among ourselves. The Hoover recommendations might have been injected, to propose at least a partial moratorium of further water developments, but the brickbats flying through the air from opposing sides out here in the Missouri basin are not helping a great deal.

And what will delay, postponement of construction, protracted debate over policy mean to all of us in the Missouri basin states in immediate terms? If this question becomes a political football, with a Washington lobby of the private utilities playing one side against another, all to its own ends, then destructive floods will continue, plans for storage of vast amounts of waste water will fail, expansion of irrigation in a semi-arid region will evaporate in thin air, and the hopes of a huge amount of power for the development of industries in this area will be crushed. That's what it means to us. That is what all of this disagreement among ourselves is heading towards.

We have confidence in General Pick and in his ability as an engineer. We have no fear of an MVA. In the incessant bickering among the states over water, common sense suggests that some kind of top authority will have to be established to get any kind of a genuine job accomplished. But most of all we have an apprehension that barking and biting, quarreling and fussing among groups in Nebraska and other Missouri basin states in the end will defeat the good purposes of the citizens of this region. We cannot agree with the Hoover commission report for a moratorium on river basin development while opposing sides wrangle endlessly in the halls of congress.

Airline Must Begin Service Before July 1

. . . CAB Orders

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The Iowa Airplane company, with plans for feeder airline routes in Nebraska and three other states, has been handed an order to get its service under way by July 1.

The order came from the civil aeronautics board which did not say what penalty would be administered for failure to comply. However, it is no secret in the industry that consideration is being given to revoking the certificate of the Iowa firm and five other companies in other sections of the country.

The board said it believes the companies have had enough time to begin flying the routes awarded to them from one to two years ago. It revoked the suspension under which they have been permitted to defer start of service.

The Iowa Airplane company plans to service 29 cities in Iowa, Minnesota and South Dakota as well as Nebraska. Omaha, Fremont, Columbus, Norfolk, Lincoln, Beatrice, Fairbury, Hastings, Grand Island, Kearney, Lexington, McCook and North Platte are all on scheduled routes.

Chiropractor Bill Is Held By Committee

Two Hotel Fire Safety Measures Are Killed

The chiropractor bill, which pops up at every legislative session, was under study Wednesday by the legislature's public health committee.

The committee, which killed four bills held over from previous hearings, delayed final action on the measure following a public hearing.

Under the chiropractor bill, LB 526, an applicant for a license would not be required to take an examination from the base science board before taking his chiropractic examination.

Not Fair.

The bill is an attempt to exclude this group from the basic science law, enacted in 1927.

Dr. C. L. Gatten, Ainsworth chiropractor, urged approval of LB 526 in order to encourage young chiropractors to take up practice in Nebraska. He said he was the only chiropractor in six large counties in northern Nebraska.

Asserting he was the only one in the area engaged in the art of drugless healing, excepting a masseur and a retired osteopath, he added:

"It's not fair to the chiropractor —it's not fair to the patient."

Opposition Voiced.

The committee was told no chiropractors have taken out licenses to practice in Nebraska since the basic science law passed 22 years ago.

But Dr. R. W. Fouts, Omaha, speaking for the Nebraska Medical association, opposed the bill with the declaration:

"You can't treat diphtheria by cracking their backbone."

Measures killed were:

LB 418, setting up a fire safety code for Nebraska hotels and giving the state fire marshal authority to make and enforce rules and regulations pertaining to fire prevention.

LB 417, eliminating the provision requiring hotels to keep a knotted rope near windows as a method of escape in case of fire.

LB 494, increasing the limitation on debts which may be contracted by cemetery associations.

LB 468, constituting the board of county commissioners or supervisors of each county as the county public welfare board.

Supplies Of Steel Said Adequate

Industry's Market Again Competitive

NEW YORK—(INS)—The "extreme" shortage in the steel industry is over for the first time since the war.

Moreover, the steel market is now acting like a normal market for the first time since the late 1930s, and is competitive in price as well as in customer relationships.

These views were expressed today by the magazine Iron Age in its weekly review of the industry.

It reported that while the ingot rate was unchanged at 102 per cent of capacity, it cautioned that operators would be affected if the coal strike extended beyond its scheduled two weeks.

Grey Market Dead.

The national metalworking weekly noted the following indications of a return to normalcy in the steel industry:

1. The gray market is dead.
2. Steel firms that have been charging more than the regular mill prices for items are dropping their quotations to that level.
3. Cancellations are increasing.
4. Scrap prices have dropped sharply.
5. Some steel companies are considering opening books for all the tonnage they can take "just in case."

Meantime, the Iron Age steel scrap composite price declined 66 cents a gross ton to $34.92 a gross ton, the lowest price since 1947.

Youth Is Key World Moral Advancement

Guidance Must Come From Church Leaders, E. W. Dunbar States

Future spiritual and moral advancement of the world depends on guidance given the youth of today, Eldine W. Dunbar, Washington D. C., told a national council of Seventh-Day Adventists at the Lincoln Hotel Tuesday night.

"Never has the church faced so great a responsibility as now," he declared, "in training young people and directing their energies into useful channels."

Dunbar urged the more than 100 representatives of the Adventist church engaged in leading the youth movement, that the time has come for a "great educational and spiritual awakening."

Interest Increasing.

Statistics show there is a definite increase in interest in literature of a religious nature, Dunbar stated. "Religious literature has climbed to third place in popular reading and men and women are reaching out for a new anchorage of their faith."

Dunbar further asserted that 51.3 per cent of all Protestant conversions take place among young people before they are 16 years of age. "That magnifies the importance of Christian work for youth," he added.

"It is not enough to rally the youth, but we must teach them and train them," Dunbar declared.

A quarter of a million Adventist youth the world over are ready for this program, he told the group. He said he had recently seen 10,000 of them in Southern and Central Europe at youth conferences he had conducted. These meetings, he said, showed an "upsurge of spiritual interest and evangelistic drive."

Governor's Estimate Of N. U. Fees 'Unrealistic'

Chancellor Tells Budget Committee $10,000,000 Needed From Property Tax

By ARCH DONOVAN.

Financing of the University of Nebraska was discussed by the budget committee Tuesday in an effort to reconcile the difference in estimated needs as detailed by University officials and the recommendations of the governor. No immediate action was taken by the committee.

Two distinct methods of estimating needs were described by R. G. Gustavson, chancellor, and Phil Johnson, state tax commissioner. The tax commissioner said he based his estimate laregly on records of receipts and expenditures in the state treasurer's office with a cushion of 10 per cent.

The chancellor described in detail how the budget requested by the university regents was prepared. First each department prepared estimates and the dean meeting with the department heads act as an equalization board to keep estimates uniform and at a minimum.

Department budgets are then screened by the chancellor and his advisers to eliminate unnecessary requests before submission to the board of regents. Estimates, based on experience, are used to determine the number of students who will be enrolled for the following period. From this estimate of attendance, income from student fees is determined.

It was receipts from this source that provided the greatest difference in the two budgets. The university estimated $3,400,000 while the governor submitted figures of $4,600,000.

"The estimate of the governor on fees is unrealistic and a sum that has never been approached in the past," Chancellor Gustavson told the committee. "I am positive it can never be reached."

From the $75 per semester from state students and $150 from out-of-state students and veterans, the chancellor explained that $15 must be subtracted from revenue for teaching because it provides for student health, student union and publications. Previously, he said, this was an added charge.

Research Pays.

This item was not reflected in the estimate of the tax commissioner because the money was the gross deposited with the state. John Selleck, university comptroller, also said that the figures obtained for the governor did not reflect actual payments of veterans' fees, because they were often far in arrears.

The university estimates about $5,000,000 will be realized in the cash fund leaving $10,000,000 needed from property taxes. The governor had recommended $7,800,000 from tax funds but estimated higher cash receipts.

Research, conducted as part of university operation, pays the cost of the entire university "over and over," the chancellor told the committee. He cited the results of research in wheat from 1944 to 1948.

Improvement in various strains of wheat, he said, had increased production by 10,516,710 bushels, increasing the revenue to Nebraska farmers by $21,033,420. In addition, he told of benefits in halting potato diseases, use of insecticides and irrigation problems.

Bad Housekeeping.

The research, it was pointed out, has shown farmers the great increase in animal nutrition value of prairie hay cut early so as to save the nutritious elements. Research is also getting facts for farmers to save them from being exploited, he explained, on benefits of feeds of questionable value.

The university in years past because of insufficient funds has been guilty of bad housekeeping, the chancellor said. Maintenance funds of 2.25 per cent of original valuation or 1.33 per cent of present valuation were asked, which it was said are below private industry budgets.

Added costs for the extension service, it was explained, are asked because of added services demanded by the people of the state. Specialists are now demanded in various agricultural activities and the cost increases.

No Wage Hikes.

The instruction staff will receive no cost of living increases in the budget, the increases proposed being based on merit and experience. Additional personnel he said was necessary but that the increase would only reduce the student-teacher ration from 25 to 1 to 23 to 1.

In the medical and dental schools, volunteer staff has to be replaced by full and part time staffs because shortages make such instructors no longer available, he explained.

Return to a four year law course, the chancellor said, was another reason for increasing the staff. Salary comparisons were shown with other "Big 7" and "Big 9" schools as well as the 30 schools participating in atomic research showing that Nebraska salaries were among the lowest.

The chancellor asserted that there was no evidence of a decline in attendance at the university although the number of veterans would decline with a resultant decrease in the amount of revenue received from this source.

One airline reports that 75 per cent of their hostesses who resign do so to get married.

LABOR BILL STAMPED OK

... BY HOUSE COMMITTEE

WASHINGTON — (AP) — A house labor subcommittee approved the administration's labor bill today without change.

The vote, on straight party lines, was 8 to 5. The measure goes before the full committee tomorrow.

The bill would repeal the Taft-Hartley law and reinstate the new deal's Wagner act with changes recommended by President Truman. A companion bill was approved by the senate labor committee March 4.

ver lobbyist, whose plan is to bolster the nationalist economy—with silver.

Senate GOP leader Arthur Vandenberg backed colleague Owen Brewster of Maine in a corner, glanced furtively for eavesdroppers and whispered:

"You'd better lay off that ECA fund to the Dutch you've been raising such a fuss about. I just learned there's a lobbyist mixed up in this."

Vandenberg probably referred to young Randolph Feltus, a registered lobbyist on Capitol Hill, who has been fighting ECA aid to the Netherlands on the ground that the money will be used to finance Dutch armed imperialism in Indonesia.

"Listen, Arthur," grinned Brewster, 'have you ever heard of legislation an any subject in congress, of major or minor importance, that doesn't have a lobbyist for or against it?"

Note: Feltus and many others have been talking to senators on the ground that a breakdown of the U. N. regarding Indonesia means a serious undermining of the peace machinery of the world.

Senator Tydings of Maryland has been trying to side-step a senate investigation of army brutality in Germany.

What some senators want to investigate is evidence that the army used strong-arm men to torture confessions out of the Malmedy war criminals. Some prisoners, it is contended, had their teeth knocked out. Others were taken before mock courts which condemned them to die. Then, after they were convinced there was no hope, they were promised clemency if they would confess. Ration books were also reported taken away from families, until hungry women and children begged the prisoners to confess.

To further demoralize the prisoners, their wives were allegedly taken out and given too much liquor. Subsequently, the army was able to convict 73 out of 74 defendants in the Malmedy trials. The seventy-fourth committed suicide.

That is why Secretary of the Royall has decided to review the convictions.

When this information was turned over to the Senate Armed Services committee, however, Chairman Tydings refused to investigate. Later the Senate Expenditures committee voted to probe into the scandal, which caused Tydings to change his mind, and he insisted that his committee should have jurisdiction. However, the expenditures committee decided to go ahead anyway, letting Tydings participate, but not run the show.

The Marshall plan is in serious danger in the Mediterranean countries because of a devastating drought. The Rome weather station has reported the lowest rainfall in its 176-year history. Industries depending upon hydroelectric power are almost at a standstill, though cool weather luckily has saved the crops from serious damage so far. The prospect is worse in Portugal, where pastures are drying up and threatening the vital cattle industry.

Worse hit of all is Spain—not a Marshall plan country. Drought-stricken Spaniards are so desperate for water that they are trading wine for water in some places. Already the signs indicate that Spain's olive-oil output, her main source of export, won't even take care of domestic needs this year.

who have these same questions in mind, and who think that Lincoln residents are entitled to money such as being offered to "experts" to come to Lincoln to do the best they can from brief observation; so to speak, in comparison with residents who have been concerned with and surrounded by Lincoln's growing shortcomings for years. I feel sure that a committee of residents who really have the interests of the city at heart and have earnest and loyal effort to offer could achieve an equal and possibly better solution of our individual needs as a city, with a saving for the taxpayer in an amazing amount. Just another quiz: Is it economy to erect, for beauty and modernization alone, street light schemes such as have been installed in certain sections of the city, when many locations are not afforded sufficient street lights to insure safety and or promote moral standards? What can the voter do about it? Not much, if incumbents for governing offices do not inform the voting public as to their concern and earnest endeavor to reform spending procedure.

REPRESENTATIVE BODY.

Hebron, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: One definition of filibuster: A very small minority of the membership holds the senate floor indefinitely to defeat a law favored by the majority. In this way they succeed in robbing the people of a representative law-making body elected by the majority of the voters to carry out the edicts of the platform promises on which they were elected. We are told the senatorial courtesy extended to each member prevents the majority from curbing filibuster practices. In other words a minority is allowed to defeat the will of the majority, who can do nothing to prevent it. Do we elect men on pledges they make, drawn up at the party conventions, to go to Washington just to be defeated in carrying out their promises by a small group? The 15th amendment to the constitution, passed by a republican congress, signed by a republican president, became a law in 1870 and reads as follows:

"The rights of the citizens to vote shall not be denied nor abridged by the United States or by any state on account of race, color or previous condition of servitude. Congress shall have the power to enforce this article by appropriate legislation."

The republican party has controlled congress and the government 47 of the 79 years since this amendment became law and it has failed to enforce that amendment. In their 1948 platform they pledged themselves to enforce this law. There are 33 million people in 11 Southern states that have never enjoyed the rights guaranteed them under the constitution. For example, Alabama has 13 members in the two houses of congress, but only 213,000 people voted. Iowa with the same representation in congress had 1,038,272 voters. President Truman's civil rights program caused the 16-day filibuster by Southern democratic senators. Of the 34 out of 42 republican senators who voted with the Southern democrats, Nebraska's two senators were counted with the 34 to deprive 33 million people of their civil rights.

Farm Work Delayed By Wet Fields

Roads In East Area Still Impassable

Wet fields are holding up Nebraska's spring farm work.

The state-federal bureau of agricultural statistics said Tuesday farmers are getting a little impatient about it.

But, added the bureau, a few days of sunshine and windy weather would dry the surface soil and work could get started full speed.

Roads have improved some in southwest Nebraska and in the southern panhandle. In the east many remain impassable.

This has resulted in delay of marketing of grain and livestock.

In general, the weekly crop report said, winter wheat has made little progress because temperatures have been too low.

"So far it appears that the wheat has come through the winter in better shape than expected. There is very little if any loss from ice coating, but there will be some loss from standing water in the low places and a little from high winds," the bureau commented.

Stock Improving.

Cattle continue to improve in condition, and reports indicate some increased interest in dairying.

And, added the bureau, there has been some replacement of cattle in the feedlots.

A good demand exists for baby chicks.

Precipitation received throughout the state for the week ending Monday included:

CAP Conference Set March 26, 27 In Grand Island

Special plans for handling disaster search and rescue missions with special emphasis on flood operations will be discussed at the state Civil Air Patrol conference March 26 and 27 in Grand Island.

The meeting originally set for February 19 and 20 was postponed due to critical weather conditions throughout the state, L. E Everett, public information officer said Tuesday.

Major Gen. Lucas V. Beau, Washington, national Civil Air Patrol commander, will be guest speaker at a dinner March 26 and at the conference the following day.

Training sessions for local unit staff officers will be conducted by Nebraska wing staff leaders.

Included in the Lincoln delegation to the meeting are: Major O. T. Powell, Lincoln squadron commander and wing communications officer; Major C. E. Taylor, group training officer; Major Ken Kimmel; Capt. Joseph Arlt, group adjutant; Lt. C. E. Stuart, operations officer; Lt. Harold Cook, engineering officer; Warrant Officer L. E. Everett; Lt. T. C. Winninger, squadron supply officer; Cadet Lt. Janet Yos, cadet commander; Elinor Warden, squadron secretary.

Magazines Aid Drive To Halt Death Penalty

Sen. Carson, Ord, Continues Campaign

Sen. Hugh Carson, freshman legislator from Ord, is leaving no stone unturned in his campaign to abolish capital punishment in Nebraska.

When his bill, LB 213, was killed in committee he carried his fight to the floor of the legislature where he succeeded in having it raised and advanced on general file.

Informed that a national magazine soon to be released on news stands carries a story illustrating his arguments against the death penalty, he sought to obtain 40 copies to distribute to legislators. He was told they could not be purchased before the release date.

Undaunted, Sen. Carson wired the publishers for special permission to make the purchase and the Lincoln distributor was instructed to fill his needs.

Tuesday morning a copy of the magazine was on the desk of each senator and the Ord representative was busy calling their attention to the story.

Dr. Graham Appointed As Senator

N. C. EDUCATOR A BELIEVER In FREE SPEECH, ASSEMBLY

RALEIGH, N. C. — (AP) — Dr. Frank P. Graham, educator and confidant of presidents, will be North Carolina's junior U. S. senator.

Gov. W. Kerr Scott appointed the 62-year-old democratic president of the Greater University of North Carolina at a dinner last night in Chapel Hill. He will succeed J. Melville Broughton who died March 6.

Dr. Graham will assume his new duties as soon as the formalities of his certification are completed. There was no doubt in party circles that the senate would seat him, despite recent criticism of his views on the floor of congress.

A strong civil rights advocate and consistently a plugger for free speech and assembly, Dr. Graham was attacked in congress only last month.

Cleared By "A" Commission.

Rep. Herbert (D-La), said the communist party had been exploiting the prestige of the University of North Carolina for years through Dr. Graham's activities.

A month previously, the atomic energy commission reportedly overrode its security officials in giving clearance to Dr. Graham as head of the Oak Ridge institute of nuclear studies. A radio commentator (Fulton Lewis) had said that AEC had cleared Dr. Graham over the protest of its five-man security board.

To that, Dr. Graham replied:

"I have always been opposed to communism and all totalitarian dictatorships."

Dr. Graham served closely with President Roosevelt during the last World war.

He will serve only until 1950 because of a provision that directs the selection of another senator, after death, at the next general election. Broughton's term would have lasted until 1954.

The new North Carolina senator has offered his resignation to the university, but it has not yet been accepted.

1 Million Less Work Mishaps Trumans Goal

. . . Cut Injuries In Half

WASHINGTON—(AP) — President Truman set a goal today of a million fewer work accidents each year. That would mean cutting in half the number of injuries men and women suffer while on the job.

Mr. Truman announced this aim in a speech opening the president's conference on industrial safety.

He said that the United States has "placed the value of human life above private profit" in contrast with totalitarian countries where "men are thought of as tools of the state."

More than 1,000 leaders of unions, industrial organizations and government agencies are here for the conference which continues through Friday.

The black walnut frequently grows to a height of 100 or more feet.

1,200 Attend Open House At Northeast High

Class Room Work Placed On Display

Northeast high school held spring open house for approximately 1,200 persons Tuesday night.

Opening the evening's entertainment, the eighth-grade chorus accompanied by Joyce Bare, the choir directed by Mrs Velma Snook and accompanied by Nina DeBoer, and the orchestra under direction of Vernon Forbes presented a varied musical program.

Parents were then escorted by students through classrooms where various projects were displayed.

Modern Problem Class.

The home economics, metal, and wood shops displayed the work of the pupils. For examples of furniture refinishing, parents found wood finishes ranging from antique mahogany to modern blond.

The senior modern problems class displays showed mother and dad the results of a class they never had the opportunity to take. This class, taken by almost every one in the school at some time, gives students a chance to tackle vocational and personality problems, according to Principal R. S. Mickle.

Charts made by students showed necessary education and probable job chances in various fields. Displays of tools used in certain jobs and projects used in those fields were also shown.

This was the second of two open houses held by Northeast high this year. (It was erroneously stated in Tuesday's paper that the open house would be held next Monday night.)

Road Limits Off As Soon As Possible

Protesting Group Told Klietsch To Make Personal Tour

More than 200 truckers, ranchers, businessmen and chamber of commerce officials from nearly 40 western and northern Nebraska towns had gained a partial victory Wednesday in their battle against posted roads Tuesday afternoon.

After a mass meeting with Governor Val Peterson, the Nebraskans heard the governor instruct State Engineer F. H. Klietsch to make a personal inspection of the posted roads, beginning today, and if possible, to ease the weight limits upward at the very earliest possible moment.

It was only a partial victory for those protesting, however, because they had come to Lincoln with the idea of getting all the restrictions lifted immediately. General satisfaction in the outcome of the meeting was expressed by most of those attending.

Weather is Key.

When attempts were made to pin Klietsch down to setting a specific date for the taking off of restrictions, he countered with the explanation that it depended entirely upon the weather, how soon the frost came out of the ground, and how soon the subgrades are dried out and the road in a normal state.

Eugene Haylett, secretary-manager of the Scottsbluff chamber of commerce, who acted as speaker for the group protesting the posting, after the hearing said that although the group did not accomplish their objective, the governor and the men did gain some understanding of one another's problems and brought out the need for road construction in the north and west part of the state.

During the meeting, a sharp exchange took place between Governor Val Peterson and Paul Halpine, Lincoln, legislative lobbyist for the Nebraska Motor Carriers association.

The exchange occurred when the governor criticized the organization for opposing attempts by the legislature to make enforcement of weight restrictions more effective.

Scale Bill.

He referred specifically to the "emasculated" Burney "scale bill," passed Tuesday by the legislature, which authorizes the state highway department to erect "two measly sets of scales" in Nebraska for the purpose of weighing possibly overloaded trucks.

The governor maintained that the bill was amended from its original form, in which it authorized unlimited scale construction by the state, by pressure that "was primarily by the work of the truckers association of this state."

Leaping to his feet in defense of his organization, Halpine countered that the truckers opposed the scale bill because they believed the money would do more good if spent on highway construction. He said the carriers "have no intention of violating the law," and that if scales were constructed, the truckers would have to prove their innocence of not over-loading.

Sent Telegrams.

Interrupting Halpine, the governor asked him to speak as a representative of the trucking industry and then asked him if it were true that he had sent telegrams over the state Monday inviting people to attend the protest meeting.

Halpine admitted sending the telegrams.

Main arguments advanced by those protesting were that the road posting of 12,000 pounds per axle limitations, worked an unnecessary hardship on an area already hard-hit by the blizzard this winter, that the posting was discriminatory, and that the posting of the roads and the restricting of weights would not help the cause of the roads.

Klietsch said the law giving him power to put on the restrictions had been in the books for many years, and as long as the law was there, he was going to enforce it in "an honest attempt to save Nebraskans money and prolong the life of the roads."

"If the laws are wrong, the legislature is in session and you can get them repealed," the governor stated. "If the laws are right, then we are going to enforce them."

In closing the meeting the governor said, "I don't know of anyone who should want good roads more than the truckers, who are in the majority here today. I say if you want good roads, then get behind some constructive program and get enough money to build them. Quit being destructive as an organization as you have been in the past few months."

Among those who spoke for the protesting group were L. D. Putnam representing the O'Neill chamber of commerce; J. S. Steele, Kimball; Robert Ross, Gordon rancher; Jim Fredrickson, O'Neill sale barn operator; C. F. Harshfield, Chadron refinery operator; B. D. Berkheimer, Gordon banker; Orville Perch, Pierce chamber of commerce; F. L. Neuswanger, Alliance; Keith Curtis, Royal and Ed Jennison, Ord chamber of commerce.

Rising Fire Loss Must Be Stopped

Insurance Men Told At Annual Banquet

A positive program must be undertaken in Nebraska to stop the rising tide of fire loss which last year cost the state 77 lives and more than five million dollars in property.

This was the statement of Joseph I. Fetters, fire training supervisor of Nebraska, Tuesday night at the annual banquet of the Nebraska Association of Mutual Insurance Companies at the Lincoln hotel.

Fetters told the more than 200 persons attending, including 30 state senators, that laws providing greater personal and public safety, especially for our schools, are a "must."

"This disregard for fire dangers, this 'fireitis,' has come to be one of the most urgent problems in Nebraska," Fetters stated. South Dakota, he said, has six deputy fire mrashals to two in Nebraska.

Alarms Needed.

Automatic fire detection alarms should be mandatory in places where public safety is concerned, Fetters declared. "These devices can be installed in an ordinary home for as little as $20 and could save thousands of lives every year," he added.

For rural areas the fire training supervisor recommended a ready and adequate supply of water for emergencies. He lauded the local volunteer fire departments for their great services and sacrifices in fighting rural and local fires.

"We owe it to ourselves and our children to become acquainted with fire hazards and how to to eliminate them and prevent the disastrous blazes," Fetters concluded.

Governor Peterson's secretary, Christ Petrow, attended for the governor, who was unable to be present. Paul M. Colburn of Seward, president of the Protective Fire Insurance company, presided at the banquet.

Ex-Nebraskan Larry Tighe Disappears On China Trip

Former Correspondent Missing Past Month: Went Into Communist-Dominated Territory

OMAHA—(INS)—The distraught parents of a former ace ABC radio correspondent waited patiently today for word from their son, Larry Tighe, 32, who disappeared into communist-dominated China more than a month ago.

Mrs. Ann Tighe, wife of an Omaha dentist, Dr. John C. Tighe, said the family has received no information about their son since he left by jeep for Shichiachwang, China, about Feb. 15. He was accompanied by two newsmen who also are reported missing.

Tighe worked for the old Omaha Bee-News, and for radio stations KOIL and KOWH in Omaha, before joining ABC as a Tokyo correspondent. Later, he broadcast the Bikini atom bomb tests for an American radio network pool.

In Export-Import Business.

He went into the general export-import business in Tokyo last May.

The veteran correspondent's wife, the former Marian Horn, of Omaha, and two children, Dicky, 12, and Janice, 10, now are living in Tokyo. An infant son, Gary, is being cared for by his family in Omaha.

Tighe's mother said she did not know if he was traveling on business for the export firm or as a news correspondent.

She added the only information the family has received came to Tighe's wife, through a private messenger, from Shanghai. It was a note from a friend which hinted that Tighe's fate may not be known until a peace settlement is reached between the communists and the national government of China.

Lincoln Plumber Blames Customers For Tool 'Story'

OMAHA—(AP) — What gave plumbers a reputation for forgetting their tools?

It's the customers who never know what's the matter except that "something is leaking."

At least that's the explanation given by Otto Newberg of Lincoln who is here attending the Nebraska Retail Plumbers association convention.

"We just don't know which tools to bring until we know something about the job," he explained.

The convention was scheduled to elect officers today. A banquet is on the program tonight.

Mrs. R. E. Krimlofski of Omaha was named president of a newly-formed women's auxiliary. Mrs. W. A. Miller of Lincoln was chosen first vice-president and Mrs. F. L. Deines of Lincoln was named secretary.

Federated Garden Clubs Urge Local Clubs Cooperate

Perhaps it is just because it is spring—or perhaps the Federated Garden Club of Nebraska has had a bee in its bonnet for a long time. Anyway the organization has ideas concerning Nebraska and how it should be developed from in the matter of beautification, and soil and wildlife conservations.

The platform upon which the Federated Garden Clubs of Nebraska takes its stand in urging co-operation from local clubs throughout the state includes the following advantageous plans:

1. Every home attractively landscaped.
2. Necessary windbreaks and wildlife cover established.
3. Roadsides beautified.
4. Every wood patch eliminated.
5. Improving the standards of horticulture.

Thus the Federated Garden Clubs of Nebraska presents its program and urges non-garden club members to join a club, and asks for the co-operation of garden club units throughout the state.

Anyone interested in organizing or joining a garden club may get full information as to how to proceed by writing Mrs. Carl Jasperson, first district directors, 102 South Thirteenth street, Beatrice.

TOMORROW'S ARTIST
Mitchell Siporin

"CAROUSEL," oil, was painted by Mitchell Siporin who was born in New York City in 1910. The following year his family moved to Chicago where Siporin has resided until recently. He now lives in New York. At an early age he enrolled in the Chicago Art Institute, and at the same time studied with Todros Geller of Chicago. In September, 1939, Siporin and Edward Millman won the open national competition of $29,000 to paint seventeen fresco murals for the new post office in St. Louis, Missouri, one of the biggest federal mural commissions to date. Siporin invariably uses color with combinations which produce "near-discords" of emotional effect and he frequently distorts his figures deliberately. He is represented in major museums throughout the country.

"Slump" Is Not The Word For Today's News

MISS ELDONNA SWAN

The engagement of Miss Eldonna Swan to William W. Critchfield, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Critchfield of Tecumseh, is announced today by the bride-elect's parents; Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Swan, also of Tecumseh.

No wedding date has been named.

Both Miss Swan and her fiance are graduates of the University of Nebraska where she is a member of Alpha Chi Omega fraternity, and where Mr. Critchfield is a member of Kappa Sigma fraternity.

MISS MARY ANN MOYLE

Announcement is made today by Mr. and Mrs. E. John Moyle of the engagement of their daughter, Mary Ann, to Richard Lewis Johnson, son of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Johnson.

The wedding will be an event of Saturday, June 11, and the ceremony will take place at the First-Plymouth Congregational church.

The bride-elect will be graduated in June from the University of Nebraska where she is a member of Delta Delta Delta sorority. Her fiance also will receive his degree from the college of engineering, University of Nebraska, in June. He is a member of Delta Upsilon fraternity, and Sigma Tau.

PARADOXICALLY, WEDNESDAY developed into the big news day of the week—Usually it is "slump day," with early-week events in the past, and late-week activity scarcely under way—Today was different—we combined the past, the present and the future, and now will pass the result on to you.

THE PAST—as of yesterday—has to do with some guests—Mrs. H. J. Klindt and Dr. and Mrs. Herbert Carraway, all of Billings, Mont., who paid a surprise visit to M. and Mrs. Milton Anderson. The trio of travelers arrived in their own plane on Sunday, stopping off en route to Clearwater, Fla.—and left again on Tuesday to continue their journey.

VARIOUS GROUPS — Alpha Phi circles, specifically—will be interested in news from Danielson, Conn., which tells of the birth of a daughter, Marcia Carolyn, on Tuesday, March 1, to Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Dowe. Mrs. Dowe, as you doubtless remember, is the former Betty Jerner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. O. E. Jerner.

Mrs. Jerner returned on Monday from Danielson, where she spent the past month with her son-in-law and daughter.

OUR HOMECOMING NEWS for the day comes under the heading of present tense—for arriving this evening, after a since-January stay in California, will be Mr. and Mrs. John J. Bogan.

OTHER NEWS BELONGING strictly to Wednesday concerns Mrs. Maynard Mills who was hostess at luncheon today at the University club when she entertained the members of her bridge eightsome. Following luncheon the groups remained at the club for an afternoon of bridge.

THURSDAY HAS A courtesy party to its credit — On Thursday evening Miss Alice Abel will honor two brides-to-be—Miss JoAnn Guenzel and Miss Patricia Raun—and a bride of the holiday season, Mrs. John R. Doyle, when she entertains at dinner at Hotel Cornhusker. Thirty-five guests have been invited for the dinner and an informal evening.

THE WEEK-END IS ONE OF varied activity — parties for brides-to-be — courtesies for guest speakers at the current art exhibit—parties to honor anniversaries—and members of the school set returning for spring holidays—

MISS JOANN GUENZEL, whose marriage to Donald Pegler will be an event of Saturday, April 2, is the incentive for the luncheon on Saturday for which Miss Dorothy Bennison will be hostess at the University club. Miss Bennison has invited twenty guests for luncheon and an informal afternoon.

• • •

ANOTHER OF THE SUNDAY afternoon affairs is the open house between the hours of 3 o'clock and 5 o'clock for which Mr. and Mrs. Karl Arndt will be host and hostess at their home, in celebration of the fiftieth wedding anniversary of Mrs. Arndt's parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Welch.

Since Mr. and Mrs. Welch's anniversary really is on Monday, the occasion will be observed with a family dinner at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Arndt.

AND THEN ON SUNDAY is the miscellaneous shower for which Miss LaVerne Laird and Miss Mary Lou Graham will be hostesses when they entertain in the afternoon at the home of Miss Laird, complimenting Miss Alice Joan Babst. The guest list of ten will include Miss Georgiann Rediger of Omaha.

OUR GUEST SPEAKERS FOR THE week-end are Mr. and Mrs. Otto Karl Bach of Denver, where Mr. Bach is director of the Denver Art museum—and where Mrs. Bach does a column on art in her role as an art critic—and Paul Parker of Clinton, N. Y., resident artist at Hamilton college.

Mr. Bach gives his lecture before members of the Nebraska Art association, and single admissions, on Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock—while Mr. Parker speaks to the group at 3 o'clock on Sunday afternoon.

Incidentally, Mr. Bach and Mr. Parker have been asked to make the recommendations concerning pictures to be purchased by the association from this season's exhibit.

HONORING MR. AND MRS. BACH and Mr. Parker, the members of the board of the Nebraska Art association will entertain at dinner on Saturday evening at the University club.

SPEAKING OF ART AND Denver and this and that brings to mind that Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Fuller of Denver will spend the week-end in Lincoln as the guests of Mrs. Fuller's uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Waugh.

SUNDAY IS "coming home" day for Jerry Merritt, who comes from Kiski school, Salzburg, Pa., to spend his spring recess with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Merritt. Jerry doubtless will bring home his brand new letter won during the school's basketball season.

BUT WE'RE NOT through with news of the Merritt family—Next Wednesday Miss Jac-E-Lou Merritt, who is careering in San Francisco, will arrive by plane for a brief visit in Lincoln—Miss Merritt, who comes to attend the wedding of Miss Guenzel and Mr. Pegler, will return to San Francisco on Sunday, April 3.

POSTSCRIPT ON the week-end, and guest speakers — Coming from Grinnell, Ia., to speak at the annual banquet of Alpha Chi Omega sorority on Saturday evening, will be Mrs. Bernard Oakes who is to be the week-end house guest of Mrs. Dwight McVicker.

MISS HELEN JEANNE WOODWORTH, whose engagement and approaching marriage to Theodore Lee Stancliff, son of E. L. Stancliff of Los Angeles, and the late Mrs. Stancliff, is announced today by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Woodworth.

Saturday, May 7, has been named as the date of the wedding which will take place at Westminster Presbyterian church.

Miss Woodworth is a junior at the University of Nebraska where she is a member of Chi Omega sorority. Her fiance is a senior in the University of Nebraska college of business administration, and is a member of Beta Theta Pi fraternity.

Around The Town

This is a busy week for various organizations around town—some of the activity was routine—other events had special significance—but all of it was interesting.

• • •

Mr. and Mrs. Clark Gustin, for instance, entertained the alumni of the Delian Union Literary society last Saturday evening at their home. Mrs. Fay Teleen, president of the group, presided at the business meeting, during which the date—April 22—for the annual active and alumni banquet was announced, and plans discussed for the annual picnic. Clark Gustin reported on the literary contest being conducted on the campus by the active members of Delian Union.

The May meeting of the organization will be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Eric Harding.

On Tuesday the members of the Work-a-Day club met for a 1 o'clock luncheon at the home of Mrs. Lloyd Halferty, 730 West P street, in celebration of the birthday anniversary of Mrs. William Smith. Mrs. Smith was presented with a gift on behalf of the group.

The next meeting of the club will be on March 30, at the home of Mrs. D. T. Hanneman, 645 Arthur street.

The Thursday calendar has a notation concerning the meeting of the Priscilla club—1:30 o'clock luncheon—at the home of Mrs. Goldie Keetle, 1105 North Twenty-ninth street.

There's goings-on on Friday evening at the Y. W. C. A., too, when at the third anniversary party of the Penguin club, the group's new name will be announced. The party, limited to the eighteen-to-thirty-five age group, will include a floor show, dancing and, of course, refreshments.

At the regular meeting of the Penguin club on Monday evening, entries for the new name will be judged, and a prize given to the person whose name has been selected.

If You Had A Dozen Roses What Would You Do?

There's more to this business of arranging flowers than meets the eye, we hear. In fact there is so much more to it than exclamations over beautifully done arrangement, that the Garden Club of Lincoln is again offering its series of flower arrangement study classes.

The series begins on Thursday (tomorrow) at 10 o'clock, and will be held in the city library auditorium. Thursday's guest speaker is Mrs. Edgar Irving of Omaha, first vice-president of the Federated Garden Clubs of Nebraska, who will speak on "Arrangements for Occasional Tables," and will demonstrate particularly the use of flowering branches.

But that isn't all Mrs. Irving will tell you what to do with "one dozen roses," other than just putting five in one spot and seven in another—or did you know that it is considered rank heresy to put the entire dozen in the same vase?

Is Party Honoree

In prenuptial courtesy to her niece, Miss Cynthia Beckman of Arlington Heights, Ill., whose marriage to Lyle Tanderup will take place in early June, Mrs. Walter Beckman will be hostess at a dessert supper and miscellaneous shower on Friday evening.

Miss Beckman and her fiance both are attending the University of Nebraska.

Mickey Finn For State Liquor Bill

Committee Leaves Liquor Business In Hands 8 Wholesalers

Legislation which would have placed the state in the wholesale liquor business was a dead issue today.

The bill, sponsored by Senator W. J. Williams, Ravenna, as a revenue measure, was killed by the legislature's revenue committee which met in executive session late yesterday.

It was the second straight year that such a bill has died in committee. However, there were some indications that an attempt to raise the bill from the floor would be made.

Earlier, both "wets and drys" had united to oppose the legislation at the public hearing. The measure would have prohibited the sale of wholesale liquir except by the state liquor commission and set up a $5,000 revolving fund.

Now eight wholesalers supply all the liquor purchased by dealers in Nebraska.

NEBRASKANS Voted This Way

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Here's how Nebraska's representatives in congress voted on important measures Tuesday:

On a rent control bill amendment giving cities and towns the power to remove controls if their state governor approves, Sens. Wherry and Butler, republicans, voted with the 45-35 majority which approved the amendment.

When the senate confirmed the appointment of James Boyd as director of the bureau of mines, 50 to 11, Sen. Wherry was one of those who voted against. Butler was not listed as voting.

The state's delegation in the lower house split 3-1 when the house voted 223 to 187 against recommitting the Rankin pension bill to the veterans affairs committee. O'Sullivan, the lone democrat, voted to recommit, while Curtis, Stefan and Miller, republicans, voted against it.

When the house voted 291 to 120 against striking out the enacting clause of the measure which would have killed the bill, all four Nebraskans voted against striking the clause.

—Controls Relaxed—

Canada Plans Big Tax Cut

Ottawa Proposes 32 Per Cent Slash In Income Levies

OTTAWA—(AP)—The Canadian government moved today to cut taxes sharply and provide more consumer goods for the people.

A 32 per cent reduction in income taxes and liberalized exemptions striking the names of 750,000 income taxpayers from the rolls are features of the program.

It also calls for a cut in taxes on earnings of small business firms; repeal or reduction of a variety of other levies; removal of price control of many commodities; and relaxation of import restrictions on a long list of commodities.

Year of Prosperity Seen.

Announcing the program, Finance Minister Douglas C. Abbott told parliament last night that at least another year of "almost unexcelled prosperity" lies ahead of Canada. He said the danger of inflation seems to have been passed, and "prices have begun to recede to more healthy levels."

Swift approval of the program is expected. Prime Minister Louis St. Laurent's national liberal party has a majority in parliament, and he is prepared to take the tax cut issue to the people in a general election.

Country Prosperous.

The program would lop $270,000,000—about 32 per cent of last year's tax revenues—from the national income, Abbott estimated. He said the government still can wind up the fiscal year 1949-50 with a bugetary surplus of $87,000,000, after expenditures of $2,390,000,000, despite the tax cuts. This is possible, the finance minister explained, because of the country's prosperous condition and the $574,000,000 budget surplus piled up in the current year ending March 31.

The income tax program calls for exemptions to be raised from $750 to $1,000 for a single person; from $1,500 to $2,000 for a married person; and from $100 to $150 for each dependent child.

The exemptions and reduced rates would work out this way: A single man who paid $420 tax on a $3,000 income this year would have to pay only $320 under the new tax formula. A $10,000 earner with a wife and two children would pay $1,582 instead of $1,930. A $100,000-a-year man would pay $52,869 instead of $56,013.

Because supplies are good, Abbott said, wartime price ceilings are being abolished immediately on many foodstiffs. Controls will remain on primary forms of iron and steel.

Rent controls will remain in effect, and the government is asking for authority to continue any other controls it deems necessary.

To provide more consumer goods, Abbott said, import restrictions will be loosened or removed on a long list of commodities, many of which come from the United States. He said an increase of U. S. dollar reserves to $1,065,000,000 made this possible.

Mrs. Laura Richards Dies In Colorado

Mrs. Laura Richards, 79, former Havelock resident for about 30 years, died Monday at Westminster, Colo., where she had been visiting with her daughter, Mrs. Joy Dove.

Born in Indiana, Mrs. Richards came to Lincoln in 1918 from Little Rock, Ark., where they had lived for about 12 years. She was the widow of Joel E. Richards who died in February, 1944. Mrs. Richards was a member of the Christian church.

Surviving are two daughters, Mrs. Dove and Mrs. Irma Newburg, Custer, S. D.; three sons, Ferris R., Longview, Wash., Cecil, Boise, Ida., and Ezra, Lincoln; 20 grandchildren and nine great-grandchildren.

WILLIAM RETTIG.

DODGE—Funeral services for William Rettig, 70, who died Friday in a Fremont hospital, were held Sunday afternoon. He was a former justice of the peace here and was a member of the board of the Farmers Telephone company. Surviving are several cousins.

U.S. Policy In China Hit By Club Speaker

American policy—or lack of any definite policy—in China was denounced Tuesday night by Mrs. J. R. B. Branch before the Lincoln Dinner club at the Cornhusker hotel.

Mrs. Branch is the wife of a United States Army surgeon and has spent more than 25 years in China.

Although she avoided praising Chiang Kai-shek, Mrs. Branch said the United States should have supported him because he was the only person who put up a strong front against the communists.

"Had Chiang had more than 10 years of peace and the full support of the U. S. government, he would have brought to the peoples of China his promised reforms," she declared.

"Contrary to the prevalent idea in this country," Mrs. Branch asserted, "it is not a mere agrarian reform that is overrunning China, but full-scale, red-blooded, Soviet communism."

Scores Policy.

Then she scored the government policy of being the "most generous country in the world which handed China over to Joe Stalin on a silver platter." To finish the deal off, she added, we completely ignored Madame Chiang's eleventh hour appeal to the U. S. for "aid which could have stayed the Iron Curtain."

"When Chiang's army drove out the war-lords, he cleared China of a reign of terror. When Chiang kicked the communists out in 1924 it was of his own volition, he had no pressure put on him," she told the more than 200 persons attending.

Borodin and his aides she portrayed as nothing more than "red thugs bent on terrorizing the population for their own ends."

"It was the complacency of the Chinese that led to their debacle," Mrs. Branch declared. "The complacency of the U. S. and the rest of the democratic west may likewise be the greatest debacle in the history of civilization," she added.

Dr. Archer L. Burnham, vice-president of the club presided and introduced Mrs. Branch.

Big Slash Recommended In Flood Control Appropriations

90 Million To Missouri Basin Work

$12,500,000 For Harlan Project

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Missouri basin projects would get about $90,000,000 under a $331,000,000 flood control appropriation approved today by the house appropriations committee.

The funds, if approved by the congress, would be for use in the 12 months starting July 1.

Three big dam projects—Garrison reservoir in North Dakota, Fort Randall and Oahe in South Dakota—were down for $87,580,000 from which the committee hoped 15 per cent might be clipped by declining construction costs.

One Project Eliminated.

Only one project included in the president's budget—the Red Rock reservoir in Iowa—was eliminated. The budget had earmarked $2,500,000 for the job this year but army engineers reported they were by-passing it pending further studies.

Projects contained in the approved bill and the amounts recommended (all subject to the hoped-for overall cut of 15 per cent in costs) were:

Nebraska: Harlan county reservoir, $12,500,000; Missouri river from Kenslers Bend, Neb., to Sioux City, Iowa, $422,000 (for completion of revetments and dikes); Omaha, $1,700,000 for levees and flood walls to protect the city.

Kansas: Fall river reservoir, $277,500; Kanopolis reservoir, $242,000; Kansas City, Mo., and Kansas, $5,700,000; Missouri river agricultural levees, Kansas., Ia., Neb. & Mo., $8,000,000.

South Dakota: Fall River basin, $500,000; Fort Randall reservoir, $25,000,000; Oahe reservoir, $2,000,000. Action on the proposed Gavins point regulating dam was postponed pending further construction at Fort Randall and no appropriation was included.

North Dakota: Garrison reservoir, $31,000,000; Homme reservoir, $527,100 (for completion); Mandan, $40,000 (to complete flood protection for the town).

Iowa: Coralville reservoir, $3,300,000; dry run project, $395,000 (for completion); Little Sioux river, $500,000; Missouri river agricultural levees from Sioux City, Iowa, to mouth of river, $8,000,000.

Genoa Project.

The bill also made the following provisions for auxiliary projects and maintenance of existing flood control works in the upper basin:

Emergency bank protection on the Loup river at Genoa, Neb., $50,000, and the Sioux City, Iowa river road, $40,000.

Preparation of plans and specifications at Gavins Point, $150,000 and at Miners Bend, S. D., $15,000.

Maintenance and operation of completed works from Kenslers Bend to Sioux City, $40,000.

Rivers and harbors works on the Missouri river from Sioux City, Iowa, to Kansas City, Kas., $4,000,000.

Negev Desert Sore Spot Israeli-Arab Problem--Dr. Gruber

OMAHA—(AP)—The sore spot in Israeli-Arab peace negotiations will continue to be the Negev desert, Dr. Ruth Gruber believes.

The New York Herald Tribune writer told a meeting here last night that King Abdullah of Trans Jordan is an "employe of Great Britain."

"Abdullah doesn't want the Negev," she declared, "but Britain has ordered him to demand it at the Rhodes peace talks."

Israel needs Negev for expansion, she said.

KEARNEY, Neb. — Legislative recommendations of Governor Val Peterson's highway committee have been approved by the Kearney chamber of commerce.

HASTINGS—Funeral services for Mrs. Elizabeth Hoagland, 73, who died Wednesday, March 16, in a local hospital, were held here Saturday afternoon. She had resided in Hastings for more than 60 years. Fund Is For Army Civil Functions

$180,971,220 Below Truman's Request

WASHINGTON—(AP) — The house appropriations committee today recommended a deep cut in army engineers' funds for river and harbor and flood control work.

It said construction costs should be lower during the year starting next July 1.

So it sent to the house floor for debate tomorrow a $586,762,000 bill to finance so-called civil functions of the army. It is $180,971,220 below President Truman's budget requests and $1,361,813,666 less than the engineers got for the present year.

The big slash from this year's total resulted mainly from a decision to finance government and relief in occupied overseas areas in a separate bill. The tab for that during the current fiscal year—when it was part of the civil functions measure — was $1,300,000,000.

24 Per Cent Cut.

Even so, the cut from the amount Mr. Truman had asked totalled almost 24 per cent.

The committee leveled a 15 per cent cut against all construction programs, explaining that the original cost estimates were prepared months ago and did not allow for declines in construction costs which began to take effect last October.

"It seems most likely," the committee said, "that a downward trend will continue and become more pronounced during the fiscal year 1950 (starting July 1, 1949). The availability of building materials generally has increased relative to the aggregate of demand for such materials x x x."

May Need More Funds.

The committee said it has "no assurance" that construction costs will decline by 15 per cent. If they don't, it added, the committee will be ready to recommend additional funds to carry out the construction program contemplated by the president.

The committee did not apply to 15 per cent construction cut equally to each project. It simply cuts the total fund by that amount.

In some cases, committee members said, projects may be finished for as much as 25 per cent below original estimates, while in others the reduction may be only 5 or 10 per cent.

In addition to the cut in construction funds, the committee knocked out completely some projects and deducted for money it expected to see left over from this year's appropriation.

The committee chopped $1,120,000 from the $4,500,000 requested for cemetery expenses handled by the army.

Wagoner's Death Possibly Due To Fall Says Green

OMAHA—(AP) — According to Assistant Chief of Police Harry Green, Albert C. Wagoner, found dead on a street here early Sunday, may have died from a fall. Death was caused by a skull fracture and cerebral hemorrhage, Acting Coroner George Sullivan said.

Green said two youths questioned in connection with the case have been turned over to juvenile authorities on other charges. Suspicion of armed robbery arose out of the finding of Wagoner's billfold lying at his side.

Chapter 3.

When Ellen came back into her office there was a note on her desk. It was from Hubbard. She picked it up and read it. A bitter expression gathered around her mouth.

"Miss Carter," the note read, "will you write a letter to William Griffith informing him that inasmuch as he failed to pass his qualifying exams, his assistantship in this department terminates as of April first. J. B. H."

That was all. Very short, very direct, and very impersonal. Ellen looked at her watch. It was just ten minutes to four. She was thinking that Griffith would not have flunked if the exam had been held at four-thirty, the time originally scheduled, instead of at two-thirty.

She was puzzled and hurt. A number of questions were spinning through her mind . . . Why had Hubbard changed the time of Griffith's examination? Why did Hubbard want her to stay as his secretary when he knew she wanted to leave? Why? Why? Why?

Her troubled thoughts were suddenly terminated when Hubbard came out of his office.

Ellen looked up at him.

"Miss Carter, I'm leaving for the day now. Will you have Verek call me at my home tonight"

"Dr. Verek should be here at any minute. You see, Dr. Hubbard," she added very sweetly, "I told him that Griffith's exam was to be held at four-thirty and I know he didn't want to miss it."

Hubbard frowned as she spoke.

"Well, of course it's regrettable that Verek was absent from the exam, but I must say I can't see that that is so terribly important. However, I did want to see that man," he added petulantly.

Ellen said nothing. She pulled some paper from a drawer and stuck it in the typewriter savagely. Darn it she thought, he acts as if Verek were a janitor!

A timit knock sounded on the half opened door.

She looked up to see the short thin man come in. It was Dr. Verek. He bowed quickly so that it looked more like a curtsy, and cleared his throat. Hubbard, who had been getting his coat from the corner, turned around.

"Ah, Verek, glad you're here," he said.

A smile lighted Verek's face so that his eyes shone.

"The cross-campus bus, it is not running today, he said in a heavily accented voice. "Thus I had to walk. But I did not want to miss the examination of Griffith this —"

"Oh, that's already been held," interrupted Hubbard. "What I wanted to see you about is dinner next Saturday night at our house. Mrs. Hubbard won't return home until tomorrow and it's difficult to get someone at the last minute. We've had this thing planned for weeks. However, I've just had word that Professor Emerson can't come. So if you will be good enough to fill in for us—"

Verek stared searchingly at Hubbard, not hearing. Why had he been told the examination was to be held at four thirty? If they had decided to hold it earlier, why hadn't someone called him? Suddenly he roused himself. Saturday night? Not Saturday night! Not Saturday night! His mustache seemed blacker than ever against a waxlike face.

"Dr. Hubbard, thank you for the invitation." Again that curtsy. "But, you see, on Saturday night I attend the meeting of this section of the American Medical Association. Dr. Karl Jones will present a paper on effects of denervation of cancerous tissue. Dr. Jones, you know, he visited my laboratory in Prague," he went on proudly. "In 1935 while he was still a student yet, and afterwards we had much correspondence."

"Now really, Verek." Hubbard's tone was pitying. "When will you refugees learn that there is no place for you in the American medical profession? Now take you, for instance. Maybe you were a big shot over there, but that doesn't mean a thing here. They don't want you. The sooner you learn that, the better off you'll be. Right now, you're very useful here as an excellent animal surgeon. And I must say you're lucky to have a good job here instead of rotting away in some concentration camp in Europe. If I were you," Hubbard emphasized the ominous threat in his voice by a glare, "I would stop pushing myself into place where I definitely was not wanted. I'm sure you'll have a better time having dinner with us. And now, if you'll excuse me—"

Verek's nostrils quivered but he made no comment. He turned mechanically and slowly walked out.

"Miss Carter, I'm leaving now." Hubbard had his hat and coat on. He called back from the hall: "I'll go over those requisition forms with you when I get in tomorrow morning."

As he passed through the dark corridor, a figure moved in the shadows and whispered: "If you get in tomorrow morning, you viper!"

Banner Landowners Will Vote On Soil District Proposal

HARRISBURG, Neb.—(AP)—A referendum on a proposed Banner county soil conservation district will probably be held April 22.

Joe Styska., distric conservator from Scottsbluff, said 135 landowners atending a hearing here yesterday gave unanimous approval to the referendum proposal. If 75 per cent of those voting favor the proposal, the district will be established, he said.

Articles of incorporation were filed with the secretary of state by the National Catholic Community Service of Omaha, Inc., a non-profit, non-stock organization.

Tasting the product, Judge Dane told Mosio, "I just hope I don't get indigestion." He said he would give his official verdict later.

Mosio passed samples of the cake around.

A branch of the national association, the new incorporation will function as a part of the United Service Organization in Omaha.

Resident agent is William J. Holtz, Omaha.

Lawyer Bakes Cake To Prove Efficiency Of Client's Gas Stove

ST. PAUL, Minn.—(AP) — A male St. Paul lawyer baked a cake yesterday, seeking to prove his client's gas stove worked okay,

The judge trying the case was an observer at the baking clinic, held in the home of Mrs. Charles Finck.

Mrs. Finck is asking a $198 refund from a furniture store, claiming the range for which she paid that amount won't bake good cakes.

Stanley Mosio, attorney for the store, said he thought Mrs. Finck's technique was at fault, not the stove. He offered to prove his point by baking the cake.

Judge Royden S. Dane adjourned court to Mrs. Finck's kitchen for the experiment. Her attorney, Fred Peterson, went along.

Mosio, using ingredients the complainant provided, mixed up the cake and put it into the oven of the disputed stove. After the baking—and a little difficulty removing it from the pan—Mosio passed samples of the cake around.

Tasting the product, Judge Dane told Mosio, "I just hope I don't get indigestion." He said he would give his official verdict later.

Central Credit Union Bill Falls Under Committee's Ax

. . . Shouts Of "Socialism"

Despite two hours of "pro" testimony, the legislature's banking committee Tuesday killed by a 6 to 1 vote a bill to set up a central credit union for the 87 co-operative unions in the state.

In hearing LB 375, introduced by Sen. Willard Wilson of Holdrege, the committee was told much of the history, practice and philosophy of credit unions.

Backers of the bill labeled the unions "as American as a threshing crew." But opponents broadly charged: "socialism."

Unions Popular.

These unions, Sen. Wilson told the committee are groups of people pooling their extra money to provide a lending-service to themselves when they need it.

The unions originated in Germany over 100 years ago for the purpose of escaping from the professional money-lenders, he related.

In America they became popular with industrial employes and are encouraged by management, he said.

Dozen For Bill.

What the bill provides, Wilson said, was a central union, which could lend money to locals who have lent most of their funds. It would operate on the same pattern local unions and their members operate, he added.

Over a dozen spokesmen for credit unions appeared to support the bill and to inform the committeemen about the workings of their organizations. Employes of the Burlington, Union Pacific, Consumers Public Power District, and Omaha packers were among those represented.

Lone opponent of the bill was Frank Lepinski, Omaha insurance man.

Movement Is Wrong.

He charged that the unions shouldn't be allowed to form what he termed a "holding company" in competition with private industry.

"The movement is wrong," he declared. Some of these men are having their minds socialized."

Lepinski also complained that some unions were selling insurance without control of the state insurance department.

Answering Lepinski's broadside, Sen. Wilson reminded the committee:

"One of the easiest ways to defeat something is to yell: 'Socialism!'"

Another bill, aimed at tripling the tax levy on credit unions, also was killed. Many of the same men supporting the central-union bill appeared to oppose LB 463.

Under the provisions of the measure, introduced by Sen. Ray Babcock of Sidney, chairman of the committee, credit unions would have been taxed 12 mills on gross interest income. They are now taxed 4 mills.

The committee also killed the third bill heard Tuesday.

Authored by Sen. Earl Lee of Fremont, LB 450 would have required a bank depositor to furnish a surety if a bank pays him a lost or stolen certificate of deposit.

In public health committee, the perennial bill to change qualifications for chiropractors was laid over.

It would eliminate the requirement of certificates of ability in several medical subjects, but would permit licensing when the applicant passed state exams in the subjects.

Presbyterians To Hear Moderator

DR. JESSE H. BAIRD, San Anselmo, Cal., moderator of the 160th General Assembly of the Presbyterian church, will speak Sunday, March 27, 8 p. m., at the First Presbyterian church, before a meeting sponsored by all Lincoln Presbyterian churches.

Visitors from Presbyterian churches throughout the Lincoln area will be present.

Dr. Baird is president of the San Francisco Theological seminary. He was one of the delegates at the meeting of the World Council of Churches in Amsterdam.

Couple Ask Court To Drop Injunction Involving Hedgerow

John B. and Tena R. Wiese asked the state Supreme court in a brief filed today to dissolve an injunction which Martin H. Jurgens and Anna Jurgens obtained in Gage county District court.

Under the order the Wieses are restrained from cutting a hedge fence between the adjoining farms in Gage county.

Talk on Conservation—Paul T. Gilbert, executive secretary and chief conservation officer of the Nebraska game, forestation and park commission, will discuss advances made in developing natural resources. He will speak at the American Interprofessional Institute meeting Saturday noon.

$17,500,000 Flood Control Recommended

As Result Of Western Snows

WASHINGTON—(AP) — The senate appropriations committee has recommended a $17,500,000 grant for emergency flood control measures needed as a result of heavy western snows. The committee has also upped a house approved figure for reclamation projects in the Missouri basin.

The flood control fund is included in a $538,453,475 deficiency money bill for more than a score of government agencies. The bill approved by the senate committee yesterday included amendments adding $66,453,473 to the funds voted by the house.

For reclamation projects, the senate committee recommended increases in house approved figures to give the Missouri basin $5,000,000 instead of $4,500,000.

HERE is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

Boxing Show Unfurls Tonight

FERGUSON FACES MASON IN MAIN EVENT OF HEAVY 28-ROUND SHOW

ALL was in readiness today for Lincoln's most ambitious boxing program since pre-war days.

A 28-round boxing card, featuring three heavyweight battles, will be launched at the fairgrounds arena tonight at 8:30.

Headlined by a heavyweight scrap between Wiley Ferguson of Lincoln and Ernie Mason of Washington, D. C., tonight's card also includes a middleweight bout and a lightweight mix.

Promoter Adam Krieger reported that the advance ticket sale had been heavy for the fairground arena's first fight show to feature more than one heavyweight bout.

James Motley, Alliance, and Eugene Brown, Omaha, will meet in one of the preliminary fights. Both are ex-midwest Golden Gloves champs. Brown will also be attempting to avenge a defeat he suffered from Motley in Golden Glove action.

These two Negro heavies will mix it up in a four-round bout.

In the opening bout on the program, which he scheduled to start at 8:30, Paddy O'Leary will attempt to stage a ring comeback when he tackles Red McNally, Miami. Both boys are lightweights.

LEE TO REFEREE.

Krieger will have Don Lee, Madison, Neb., middleweight, refereeing the last two contests on the evening's program. Lee, who recently retired from the ring, fought many standout middleweights and holds two decisions over Vince Foster out of three fights.

Jerry Adam, ex-University of Nebraska wrestling coach, will take care of preliminary matches.

In the semi-windup bout, Whitey Peterson, Omaha, will face Bill Hadley, Los Angeles. Peterson is scheduled to be the top attraction on a fight card in Council Bluffs March 28.

Both the main event performers carry impressive records into the fight tonight. Ferguson has compiled a record of 48 wins in 50 starts as a pro and currently is working on a string of 22 straight ring victories.

Ferguson decisioned Mason in Omaha last January. Mason, however, claimed he injured his hand. The Washington, D. C. Golden Gloves champ thinks that he would have scored an easy win if he hadn't injured his hand.

The "Lincoln Wild Man" will give 25 pounds to Mason, who tips the scales at 200 pounds. Ferguson has scored three victories over heavyweights in compiling his recent win string.

The main event is scheduled to go eight rounds if neither man is counted out before that time.

The complete card:

MAIN EVENT.
(8 Rounds).
Wiley Ferguson, Lincoln, vs. Ernie Mason, Washington, D. C.

SEMI-WINDUP.
(6 Rounds).
Whitey Peterson, Omaha, vs. Bill Hadley, Los Angeles. Both men are heavyweights.

SPECIAL EVENT.
(6 Rounds).
Leonard Craig, Kansas City, vs. Pat O'Grady, Holdrege, Neb. Both men are middleweights.

PRELIMINARY.
(4 Rounds).
James Motley, Alliance, vs. Gene Brown, Omaha. Both men are heavyweights.

Kentucky Hits Illini; A. & M. Next

. . . In NCAA Finals

BY WILL GRIMSLEY.

NEW YORK—(AP)—It's a revived, rampaging Kentucky basketball team that will defend its NCAA championship in Seattle, Wash., Saturday against defense-minded Oklahoma A. and M.

Twenty-four hours ago Coach Adolph Rupp feared his magnificent senior quintet, the nation's top-ranked combine, might have "played itself out" and reached the end of its triumphant trail.

But these qualms vanished, the Blue Grass courts master said, when he saw his Wildcats crush Illinois' Big Nine titlists, 76-47, Tuesday night to win the Eastern NCAA playoffs.

Led by Alex Groza, the big All-America center who pitched in 27 points, Kentucky just toyed with the mid-westerners and won breezing before a Madison Square Garden crowd of 15,126.

"It was one of the five best games my boys played all year," Rupp commented proudly afterwards. "They really snapped out of their slump and I hope for a bangup game against the Aggies."

The Kentucky Coach said he became alarmed about his team when it dropped a lackadaisical 67-56 decision to Loyola of Chicago in the quarter-finals of the National invitation tournament last week.

His worries were not relieved, he added, when his proteges won over Villanova, 85-72, Monday night in the semi-finals of the Eastern NCAA tournament.

"The 67 points that Loyola got were the most scored against one of my teams in 26 years," he said. "Then Villanova came along and topped that with 72."

In the consolation game, Villanova held Yale's fabulous Tony Lavelli to a single field goal in trouncing the Eli, 78-67. Paul Arizin rang in 22 points for the Philadelphians.

Ed Krause New Irish Sport Boss

. . . Leahy Still Coach

SOUTH BEND, Ind. — (INS) — Thirty-six-year-old Ed "Moose" Krause took over as athletic director at Notre Dame Wednesday while his predecessor, Frank Leahy, turned his full attention to coaching the fighting Irish football team.

Leahy's exit as director of athletics, a long-expected move, was announced Tuesday by the Rev. John J. Cavanaugh, C.S.C., president of the university. He termed Krause, a former football and basketball All-American at Notre Dame who now coaches the Irish basketball team, "an able successor to Frank as director of athletics."

Krause, who will continue as basketball coach, had been assistant athletic director at Notre Dame since Feb. 7, 1948.

Of Leahy, Father Cavanaugh said:

"We at Notre Dame have always felt privileged in having the services of Frank Leahy. To us, he is the finest football coach in the country. He is a leader possessed of sterling mental and moral character. He has in addition served his alma mater exceptionally well as director of athletics. As a result of performing the duties associated with both positions, he has more often than not had to put in working days lasting 16 to 18 hours.

"We have now come to the realization that too much has been demanded of Frank Leahy."

Although Leahy himself had often stated he was soon to give up his duties as athletic director, he was kept busy during the past two years denying reports that he would also quit as head football coach at the South Bend school, where he is under long term contract.

"I'll stay as coach as long as they'll have me," Leahy has said time and again. His football teams have not lost since his return to Notre Dame in 1946, following the war.

Weightlifters Vie For State Crowns

The state meet is expected to draw ten entries in each division.

Early entries include heavyweight Rex Monahan of Lincoln, runnerup in the 1948 district competition and middleweight Ray Muller, also a district runnerup.

Jim Hill and Andrew Kush, place winners in last year's physique contest will be among the entries to vie for the Mr. Nebraska title.

The meet sanctioned by the AAU district competition will be held in Omaha April 23.

Cage Fans Stay Away

. . . Catholic Tourney

BY BEN FUNK.

DENVER — (AP) — The first National Catholic basketball tournament—an artistic success but a financial floperoo — enters the second round Wednesday night with some sizzling contests in prospect.

Surprising St. Benedict's of Atchison, Kas., the team that knocked top-seeded Siena out of the tournament in the first round, meets Dayton of Ohio and second-seeded Regis of Denver tangles with St. Francis of Loretto, Pa.

The last two first round games were played Tuesday night before empty seats in the Denver city auditorium. There were a handful of fans in choice spots beside the court but the main floor, balcony and gallery were virtually vacant.

It's been that way all along. Even Sunday night, when Denver's own Regis college played, there were only 1,500 on hand.

Highlighting last night's show was the appearance of Jim Lacy, Loyola of Baltimore forward who is on the threshold of setting a new all-time college basketball scoring record.

Only a few turned out to see whether Lacy was as good as his advance publicity but he proved it anyway by nailing spectacular long set shots as Loyola downed St. Ambrose of Davenport, Ia., 75-58.

Lacy scored 24 points to run his four-year total to 2,145. He needs only 17 points in later tournament games to wipe out the National record of Brooms Abramovick of Salem, W. Va., college.

St. Francis of Brooklyn defeated St. Norbert's of Wisconsin 61-53 to complete the first round of the 16-team tournament. Two games are scheduled nightly until Saturday's finals.

Teams were entered in the tournament from coast to coast and all were guaranteed full expenses. Since the gate receipts so far won't much more than pay the electric light bill at city auditorium, somebody is going to take an awful shellacking.

Tommy Thomas, a Denver newspaperman, has been the organizer for the tournament. He says the expenses were underwritten, but it hasn't been made clear who guaranteed the bills. But one thing is clear: They will run into a mighty big figure.

Knights Edge Play-Mors, 2-1

. . . HOCKEY PLAYOFFS

OMAHA —(AP)— Dallas and Omaha are in the lead in the U. S. Hockey league playoffs.

Omaha slipped by Kansas City, 2-1, Tuesday night in Omaha in the first game of the northern division playoffs and Dallas crushed Fort Worth at Dallas, 8-0, in the opening southern division game.

The best of three series shift to Fort Worth and Kansas City for the second games. Dallas will play at Fort Worth Thursday night and Omaha at Kansas City Friday night.

The Omaha-Kansas City winner will meet St. Paul, pennant winner of the North Loop, and the Dallas-Fort Worth winner meets Tulsa, Southern titlist, in second round playoffs.

Kansas City and Omaha played a scoreless first period before George Homenuke put the Knights ahead with his second period goal. Gordon Fashoway got Kansas City back in the running early in the final period with the Pla-Mors' only goal, but midway through the stanza Jim Uniac converted a pass from Lyal Wiseman and Bill Folk into Omaha's final tally.

Twelve Nebraska Wesleyan University basketball players have been awarded letters for the 1948-49 season, Coach Irv. Peterson announced Wednesday.

Only three seniors will be lost from the squad which finished second in the Nebraska College conference.

Mud Clogs Football Activity

Glassford Displeased With Husker Showing

Nebraska football drills Tuesday bogged down in sticky mud that blanketed the practice field area.

Bill Glassford.

Coach Bill Glassford had few good things to say about the performance of his squad during the workout. Work with the two-platoon system of offensive and defensive combinations was the chief task for the laboring gridders.

Two offensive teams plus a third backfield and a sprinkling of alternate linemen handled all the offensive phases of the workout.

The remainder of the squad stuck to defense duties.

Players on the No. 1 offensive unit were Ralph Damkroger, DeWitt, and Bob Schneider, Nebraska City, ends; Jim Godfrey, Cozad, and Virg Adle, North Platte, tackles; Darwin Salestrom, St. Edward, and Milt Schmidt, Lincoln, guards, and Tom Novak, Omaha, center.

In the backfield were Kenny Fischer, St. Edward, quarterback; Bill Mueller, Omaha, left halfback and Gerry Ferguson, Scottsbluff, fullback.

Training Camp Briefs

CARPENTER COMPLAINS.

CLEARWATER, Fla. — (AP) — President Bob Carpenter of the Philadelphia Phillies Tuesday called for a rule that would require major league teams to bring their star players to all spring training camp games.

Carpenter spoke after Manager Joe McCarthy of the Boston Red Sox came to Clearwater for a game with the Phillies minus Ted Williams, Bobby Doerr, Don DiMaggio, Vern Stephens and other first line performers for the American leaguers. The storm flags began flying when the Phillies owner found the Red Sox brought over a team made up almost exclusively of rookies and second stringers.

ATHLETICS WIN SIXTH.

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla.—(AP)—The Philadelphia Athletics chalked up their sixth straight exhibition victory Tuesday with a 5-2 decision over the Baltimore Orioles of the International league.

Dick Fowler, a five-inning no-run no-hit performer against Memphis last week, worked eight innings and issued five safeties and two tainted runs before giving way to lefty Alex Kellner.

Wally won the ball game with a solo home run in the fourth inning, then saved it in the eighth with a great grab off the left centerfield fence with two runners moving.

The Firing Line

THERE MAY BE a few shamrocks and harps flying around the fairgrounds arena tonight during the 28-round professional boxing show . . . No less than four true sons of the Auld Sod will be trading fists tonight, climaxed by the all-Irish bout between Paddy O'Leary of Denver and Red McNally of Miami in the lightweight preliminary . . . Wiley Ferguson of Lincoln, main event opponent of Washington, D. C.'s Ernie Mason, is three-quarters Irish and a quarter Indian . . . And Pat O'Grady of Holdrege, Neb., has been signed to face Kansas City's Leonard Craig in the middleweight bout . . . O'Grady replaces Kid Chocolate of New York City, who suffered a sprained wrist during a workout Monday.

EMMETT JUNGE, secretary of the Lincoln Baseball association, recently returned from Philadelphia . . . While in the Quaker City, Emmett conferred with Arther Ehlers, farm boss of the parent Philadelphia Athletics . . . Ehlers predicted a winning season for the offspring Lincoln A's and expressed concern that inclement weather had delayed starting of the Sherman Field grandstand and road improvements . . . Arther said that Wee Bobby Shantz, southpaw hurling ace of the 1948 Lincoln A's, is already the darling of Philadelphia fans . . . His statement is borne out in this bit of Ray Kelly in the Philadelphia Bulletin:

Bobby Shantz

"Shantz is an important part of the A's pennant plans, especially if he can show more of the same stuff he used on the chesty Dodgers the other day.

"He held the Bums to three harmless singles and looked like a veteran all day. Jackie Robinson hit his first pitch for an infield single, and the little fellow, pitching against big-leaguers for the first time, never batted an eyelash. He retired the next batter on a dinky fly, then speared a Billy Cox liner to double Robinson off first.

"In the sixth, his last on the mound, Shantz proved his mettle. There were two batters on base and one out when First Baseman Ferris Fain strolled over to Bobby and said: 'Remember that pickoff play we were practicing the other day. Well, this is it.'

"On this particular play, the A's pitcher stands on the mound, brings his hands together on his chest, counts three and throws. Fain, standing behind the runner, also counts when the pitcher has his arms in position. It is a dangerous play that requires perfect timing.

Emmett Junge

"But this young rookie, with one year of organized baseball behind him, pulled off the pickoff as good as it has ever been done, and Dodger Carl Furillo was trapped by eight feet. He darted for second and Carl Abrams, who was holding forth there, made for third. A rundown bobbed up and the player who made the putout was Shantz.

Said Eddie Joost: "'The little guy knew where to go.'"

Fain's reaction was: "'That kid knows what he's doing. Furillo was so surprised, I almost laughed in his face.'"

Ehlers also has high hopes for Nellie Fox, the A's peppery little second baseman of last summer. He's pushing veteran Pete Suder hard for a starting position.

Fish Die

GRAND ISLAND, Neb.—(AP)—The water around the edge of Pier lake is full of dead fish, victims of the severe winter. Lack of oxygen in the water due to the thick ice and snow which covered the lake is blamed for the death of thousands of fish. The Hall County Izaak Walton league, according to its president, Bill Barrett, will restock the lake.

MAN FAINTS AT LOW PRICES

LINCOLN, March 23—

The high cost of living took its toll in reverse today. Joe Smudge is so used to paying high prices for everything that when he ran into a low price for a better product, he bit the dust!

Seems a friend lent him a wonderful razor blade—PAL Hollow Ground. Joe went to the store to get some more. "How much?" asked Joe. "Still only 10¢ for 4," said the clerk. That's when Smudge fainted.

"What?" said Joe when he came to. "Why I pay twice that for blades that aren't half as good."

P.S.: Don't be fooled by price. Try Pal Hollow Ground yourself. You still get 4 for 10¢, 10 for 25¢, 21 for 49¢, 44 for 98¢. For either Double or Single Edge razors.

Bride Accuses Rep. Edith Nourse Rogers

Blonde Wife Charges Husband's Attachment For Lawmaker, 67, Wrecked Their Marriage

WASHINGTON—(AP)—An attractive blonde bride of less than a year charges that her husband's attachment for 67-year-old Rep. Edith Nourse Rogers of Massachusetts wrecked her marriage.

Mrs. Eilene Diana Latta-Lawrence in a suit filed yesterday said her husband, naval Capt. Harold Alexander Latta-Lawrence, 47, had been on "close and intimate terms" with the orchid-wearing dean of republican women in congress for 20 years, often visiting her hotel suite "late into the night."

Called from the floor of the house and told of the suit, Mrs. Rogers said it was "ridiculous." She said she would withhold comment until she knew more about its details. Later, she said she could not understand all the excitement that has been stirred up, and that she was "completely bewildered."

Tall, Dark, Handsome.

Capt. Latta-Lawrence, described as tall, dark-haired and handsome, could not be reached for comment. A native of Toledo, O., he once was a secretary of Mrs. Rogers, and during the Roosevelt administration was a frequent White House visitor.

The suit does not seek a divorce, but asks separate maintenance and an accounting of their joint property. However, one clause said if a divorce should be asked later, Mrs. Latta-Lawrence wants at least $300 monthly alimony.

Mrs. Latta-Lawrence, in her mid-30s, is from Chattanooga, Tenn., but now lives in Los Angeles. At present she resides in a Washington hotel.

In the suit she said that even before the marriage in April, 1948, Mrs. Rogers influenced her life. She said her husband twice postponed the wedding in order to get Mrs. Rogers' consent to it.

Many Presents Given.

Mrs. Rogers attended the marriage in New York, and says she "gave them many presents."

Two days after the ceremony on April 24, 1948, Mrs. Latta-Lawrence's suit says, her husband told her she must not live with him in Washington.

REP ROGERS
. . . calls charge "ridiculous"

She said he explained that it would "ruin his prospects for advancement in the navy and his expectations for financial approvements."

Mrs. Latta-Lawrence said her husband told her the marriage was "a cause of great misery and suffering" to Mrs. Rogers. And she quoted him as saying he had received and expected to receive more "substantial benefits, both in the advancement of his career and in meeting his financial needs" from the congresswoman.

Says Honeymoon Marred.

Their honeymoon to Bermuda, the complaint continued, was marred by comments she would not fit into the Washington social scene, and that the captain's career would be damaged because of Mrs. Rogers' "distress."

After they arrived at the Shoreham hotel here on May 7, 1948, the suit contends, Capt. Latta-Lawrence forced his wife to live apart from him.

The climax came on Aug. 6, 1948, the complaint said, when her husband said he was going on maneuvers and permitted her to visit her home in Los Angeles.

After waiting for a week without a letter from him, she said she checked the navy department and learned her husband was in Saco, Me. Mrs. Latta-Lawrence said she sent a wire to Mrs. Rogers in Saco, asking her to talk to her husband and have him telephone her.

He telephoned, she said, and told her "never to return to him in Washington" and said he was "altogether through" with her.

She said she has not seen him since, although she returned to Washington late in September, 1948. She says she has been mentally and physically ill since Sept. 1, 1948.

Mrs. Rogers, who always wears a purple orchid when on the house floor, had been a member of congress since 1925, when she was appointed to fill the vacancy caused by the death of her husband, Rep. John Jacob Rogers.

The pink-cheeked, white-haired native of Lowell, Mass., looks considerably younger than her years. The Congressional Directory says she was born in Saco, Me., in 1881.

Green Light Given Normal School Bill

Legislation Allows Colleges To Grant Liberal Arts Degrees

A bill which permits the Normal schools in the state to grant liberal arts degrees was before the legislature today.

It was sent to the floor by the legislature's education committee Tuesday afternoon but was expected to counter opposition when it comes up for first reading.

The measure, sponsored by Senator Bill Hern, Chadron had its public hearing last week.

Before being approved by the committee, the measure was amended so as to eliminate any change in name of teachers colleges but granted them the privilege of granting liberal arts degrees the same as are granted in all other colleges in the state.

The four colleges will continue to put emphasis on the education of teachers and the granting of degrees in education. At hearings on the bill there was a difference of opinion on whether granting of arts degrees would cause a decrease in the number of students completing teacher training.

Most of the church schools in the state grant both the arts and teaching degrees as does the state university.

Three bills heard by the committee Tuesday were held for further consideration before action is taken. LB 473 would decrease the number of signers required to change boundaries of school districts from 60 to 55 per cent, in the discretion of the county superintendent.

Such action by the superintendent would be mandatory if the petition is signed by 60 per cent of the legal voters. The requirement is now two-thirds.

LB 427 provides qualifications for county superintendent. Superintendents not qualified for an initial administrative and supervisory certificate would be required to earn nine college hours of credit every four years until qualified. To keep the certificate in force similar training must be continued until a bachelor of arts degree is earned.

LB 422 provides for a deputy county superintendent, where the county board approves. Qualifications are the same as for superintendent.

City's Water Supply May Be Cut In Half

From Ashland Wells If Platte River Cuts New Channel

The city will lose over half its water supply from the Ashland wells if the Platte river cuts a new channel east of its present one, City Engineer D. L. Erickson said Wednesday.

The Associated Press reported Tuesday the river was cutting a new channel in the Linoma beach area endangering 10,000 acres of fertile bottomland ,the Burlington main line, highway Six and the city's wells at Ashland.

The local general superintendent's office of the Burlington reported Wednesday that water in the new channel had receded two feet since yesterday and was back to the level of three days ago. There was two feet more water in the main channel of the Platte Wednesday morning indicating the water has moved over into the old channel.

The ice jam at the mouth of the Elkhorn river caused the diversion into the new course.

Erickson said the city is vitally interested in keeping the river in its old channel and would cooperate in any program to accomplish that. Studies made a short time ago showed considerably over half the water from the Ashland wells comes from the "live" stream, Erickson said.

The city recently began a half-million dollar expansion of its water facilities by beginning construction of five new wells at Ashland. The new wells would increase capacity of the Ashland field from 13,500,000 to 20,000,000 gallons daily. Work on the new wells was abandoned when the field was flooded but present wells continued to function because their housings had been constructed above highest flood stage.

Stocks Show An Up Trend

NEW YORK—(AP)—Buying interest in stocks picked up after a wobbly start in the market today.

Most morning declines were either erased or replaced with gains running to more than a point.

Turnover increased a bit as the price line curved upward, with turnover at the rate of around 900,000 shares.

Three of the morning's selling targets joined in the forward move. They were American Woolen, Gimbel Bros and Magnavox. Fairly large morning losses were not fully recovered, however.
